FOUR MEN KILLED AND EIGHT ESCAPE IN PRISON BREAKS

Two Convicts and Truck Driver Lose Lives When Five Men Make Desperate Attempt to Get Out of Massachusetts Penitentiary—Five Fugitives Sought After Oklahoma Break

BOSTON, Dec. 3 (AP).—Three men perished today in the futile attempt of five long-term convicts to escape from the Massachusetts State Prison in the Charlestown section. Four others were wounded.

William "Red" McManus, twenty-seven, serving from twenty-one to twenty-four years for armed robbery, died tonight at the prison hospital. He had been wounded after a battle with prison guards, and had been identified by a prison instructor as the man who beat to death Louis Richards, twenty-seven-year-old Somerville truck driver, the only civilian casualty.

Richards was preparing to load his truck in front of the prison plot when the gang of convicts set on him, killed him and seized his truck.

The third to die was Philip Naples, thirty-two, of Worcester, Mass., serving a long term for armed robbery, shot by guards as he fled to the Maine freight yard of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

Careening over the narrow prison drive from the far side of the prison yard, the five men drove the truck through three gates to reach the street.

ARE BELIEVED TRAPPED
MUSKOGEE, Okla., Dec. 3 (AP).—Five heavily-armed prisoners who fled the city federal jail today leaving a sixth confederate dead and a detective chief wounded critically, were believed trapped tonight near Clayton, Okla.

That Southeastern Oklahoma town became the focal point in a search of bloodhounds, airplane observers, Federal agents and sheriff's posse. The fugitives' car was found abandoned near Clayton, about 120 miles south of here.

MOURNING FOR KING'S SISTER

Social Engagements Cancelled—Respect Shown by Lords and Commons

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The Court went into mourning today, and Parliament paid quiet tribute to memory of the King's sister, Princess Victoria, who died early this morning at her country home. The funeral will be at Windsor Castle on Saturday.

The Lord Chamberlain announced that the Court will observe full mourning for a period of three weeks and semi-mourning for three weeks thereafter. All members of the Royal Family cancelled their social engagements.

DEFER DEPARTURE
The King and Queen deferred their departure to Sandringham, remaining at Buckingham Palace today, as had been expected, until the critical condition of the Princess became known. His place at Westminster was taken by the Lord Chancellor, Viscount Hailsham, who read the speech from the Throne.

EXTREME SIMPLICITY
As a mark of respect, Lords and Commons met in extreme simplicity for the opening of the ninth Parliament under George V.

Death of the Princess leaves only two members of the late King Edward's family, both of them reigning sovereigns. The King is now seventy years of age, and his sister, Queen Maud of Norway, is sixty-six. Princess Victoria died in her sixty-eighth year.

MAN PLUNGES TO DEATH AT MINE

Joseph Nicholson Killed Instantly In Fall From Shipway at Kootenay Property

NELSON, Dec. 3 (AP).—Joseph Nicholson, twenty-eight, Reno Gold Mines Company employee, lost his balance and plunged 200 feet to instant death in the bottom of a shipway in a raise at the Nuggett-Motherlode property today.

Nicholson, with Ivor Chalk and James Ferguson, was working at the head of the shipway by which material was being transferred from one level to the other.

Nicholson leaped over the railing at the head of the inclined timber slide to see if a fourth worker, John Ferguson, was ready to receive his next load. He lost his balance, his fellow employees started, and he fell down, dying instantly but a few feet from Ferguson.

Famous Fortress to Be Strengthened

Additional fortifications projected for Gibraltar, and the increasing importance of the possession to Great Britain in view of the Mediterranean crisis, focus attention on the stormy history of the massive rocky prominence. British control of the rock was begun in 1411, when Sir George Rook, commanding a combined British and Dutch fleet during the war of the Spanish Succession, raised the British flag on Gibraltar. Since then it has been controlled by England, and is at present governed by General Sir Charles Harington. Our main picture shows Gibraltar in the distance with British destroyers steaming towards the harbor. Inset are pictures of General Sir Charles Harington and main street of Gibraltar.

Britain Borrowing At Lowest Cost in Treasury's History

Part of Huge Issue to Be Used for Strengthening National Defence

NEW ISSUES PROOF OF CHEAPNESS OF MONEY

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—Unless an agreement is reached at the forthcoming naval conference, three 35,000-ton battle cruisers may be built from the proceeds of the new Government bond issues, high Admiralty circles said tonight.

These sources said the ships would be of the same tonnage as the battle cruiser Renown.

The new bond issue announced yesterday totals £300,000,000 ($1,458,000,000). It was said that about £50,000,000 will be allotted to national defence.

CREDIT STANDS HIGH
The new bond issues of the British Government are regarded, in financial circles, as a remarkable proof of the present cheapness of money and the high credit of the Government in that the Treasury was in a position to redeem the whole on a small-interest issue before compelled to do so.

The total of £300,000,000 is divided

BURRARD SEAT IN DOUBT AGAIN

McGeer Leaves for East After Split in Committee Of Investigation

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (AP).—Mayor G. G. McGeer left tonight for Montreal and a conference of Canadian mayors there next week, leaving behind his Federal seat in Vancouver-Burrard in jeopardy and a split in the three-man civic committee investigating the internal audit department.

The audit probe was adjourned until the mayor's return from the East, probably on December 15.

Almost simultaneously with start of an action in Supreme Court for a new recount in Vancouver-Burrard, where the mayor was declared elected after an official recount last month, came announcement from Alderman A. G. Harvey that he was resigning from the audit probe committee.

SEATTLE, Dec. 3 (AP).—Mrs. T. A. Sickles and Mrs. T. E. Stevens, widows of policemen who were slain by safecrackers in a North End beer parlor a week ago, were each granted pensions of $60 a month by the Police Pension Board today.

The pensions will be paid as long as they live, unless they remarry.

Missing Alaskan Airmen Found Partly Frozen and Hurt

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 3 (AP).—The Star Airways reported tonight a wireless message said Pilot Estoll Call and Stanley Hermanson, Anchorage druggist, were found injured and nearly frozen after an airplane accident six miles east of Ekman, near Dillingham, Alaska.

The message said both suffered leg injuries when Call's plane crashed and was demolished eight days ago.

One of Hermanson's legs was believed broken and partly frozen, the wireless reported. It gave no details of the flyers' experience during the long wait for aid.

Winter Fair Opening Today With Displays And Midway Features

Tourist Trade Development Association's Four-Day Show On at the Armories—Colonist Baby Contest to Start Festivities

ONE of the most pretentious indoor fairs ever staged upon Vancouver Island will open its doors for a four-day run in the Bay Street Armories at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

For several months the Tourist Trade Development Association has been working upon plans for a gigantic Winter Fair and Bazaar. The few who yesterday were privileged to catch a glimpse of the work going on were astounded at the changed appearance of the interior of the Armories. The fair is part of the association's programme to provide Winter attractions for citizens and visitors.

Thirty men, working under the direction of T. H. Edick, general secretary of the Tourist Trade Development Association, have transformed the Armories into a combination of an indoor and outdoor fair, complete with a midway in miniature.

Forty-eight modernistic booths, reminiscent of the Chicago World's Fair or the San Diego Exposition, have been fitted up to display the wares of leading merchants and businessmen of Victoria. They are decorated in shades of buff, with contrasting trimmings of gleaming

STRIKE THREAT AT MELBOURNE

Coastwise Shipping May Be Tied Up if Negotiations Fail to Materialize

MELBOURNE, Dec. 3 (CP Cable).—Melbourne was threatened today with a strike affecting all coastwise shipping. The branch of the Seamen's Union, after rejecting a new arbitration award, tendered twenty-four hours' notice that they would walk off all ships arriving from home ports. Liners arriving from overseas would not be affected.

The Government has given the strikers forty-eight hours in which to remain the ships. Otherwise, it announced, it will apply a licensing system for seamen and take other necessary measures.

The union expressed willingness to negotiate with the owners on the basis of a forty-eight-hour week and the elimination of what it termed objectionable clauses in the award affecting working conditions and overtime rates.

The threatened strike would affect sixteen ships at present in Melbourne Harbor.

FRAUDULENT USE PROVED

Nanaimo Jury Finds Senator A. E. Planta Guilty Unlawful Conversion

NANAIMO, Dec. 3 (AP).—Senator A. E. Planta was convicted tonight by an Assize Court jury on a charge of fraudulent conversion for his own use of a client's money. The jury, which added a strong recommendation for leniency, deliberated for one hour and eighteen minutes.

The amount involved was $700, which the senator was charged with having obtained from Henry Aho in 1931 on representations that it was for a mortgage for Mrs. Irma Bernard, but which was never paid over to her.

Sensor Planta conducted a financial insurance business bearing his name. The firm became bankrupt last year and was taken over by J. B. Mather, trustee in bankruptcy.

PAID REGULARLY
Aho testified that the interest on the mortgage was paid regularly until last year, when he received only part of it. When the rest was not forthcoming he said he went to Mrs. Bernard and was informed she had signed papers for the mortgage but later had cancelled them and had not received the money. Aho said he then approached Senator Planta, who said he was sorry and promised to repay the amount involved. This was done, Aho declared.

Mather gave evidence of the financial condition of the company. He said the Aho cheque had been deposited to the credit of the firm and Mr. Aho had been credited with the amount. All had been properly accounted for in the books he examined, Mather stated.

ABSORBED LOSSES
The company operated at a loss for the last year of its existence, the trustee testified, and Senator Planta had personally absorbed these losses, paying out of his own account the necessary funds. The senator knew nothing of book-keeping, Mather explained.

Recalled to the stand Aho said that at the time of the transaction he did not know the meaning of "bearer" on a cheque. His cheque had been made out to "Mrs. Irma Louise Bernard or bearer."

ULTRA-VIOLET RAYS TO KEEP EGGS FRESH

PARIS, Dec. 3 (CP-Havas).—A technique worked out during the past year for keeping eggs fresh by ultra-violet rays was outlined here today at the convention of the International Institute of Refrigeration. ## Adequate Defence Is Emphasized in Opening of House

Speech From the Throne at Westminster Reaffirms Determination to Stand Solidly Behind League Of Nations—Debate Opens With Labor Party Criticism of Rearmament

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The Speech From the Throne was read today as the newly-elected Parliament began its sessions, and in the House of Commons the Government and the Opposition quickly came to grips over the announced move to strengthen Britain's defence forces.

The Throne Speech assured that Great Britain will firmly support the League of Nations and build up her defence forces for the "adequate safeguarding of the Empire."

As the debate began, C. R. Attlee, leader of the Labor Opposition, asserted that the rearmament programme outlined in the speech would increase the threat of war.

Premier Laval of France May Invite Sir Samuel Hoare and Baron Pompeo Aloisi to Discuss With Him Plan for Settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian Conflict

Attitude of Canada Causes Belief Oil Embargo Is Dead

PARIS, Dec. 3 (AP).—Diplomatic observers said tonight Premier Laval of France was considering calling a tri-power conference in an attempt to break the European deadlock in a search for Ethiopian peace. Mr. Laval, these sources said, may invite Sir Samuel Hoare, the British Foreign Secretary, and Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy to meet with him either in Paris or on the Riviera.

They would then discuss a technical plan for settlement of the conflict which is being drawn up here by Maurice Peterson and Comte Rene Saint-Quentin, the British and French Foreign Office African experts.

SIMULTANEOUS MOVE
Such a conference, diplomats pointed out, would circumvent Italian and British reluctance to be the first to make a peace gesture by allowing "both to make it at the same time."

So far, it was stated in diplomatic circles, the French Premier has made no progress in his efforts to find a peace plan before an oil embargo against Italy is voted at Geneva.

One diplomat explained the current difficulties this way: "For Great Britain and France to propose a settlement giving Mussolini more than was offered him at the Paris conference in August would be to give the appearance of putting a premium on aggression."

WOULD BE DISCREDITED
"And for Mussolini to signify his willingness to take less than he turned down before he started fighting would be to discredit his regime."

ROME, Dec. 3 (CP via Reuters).—The opinion was expressed in authoritative quarters here tonight that the proposed League of Nations embargo on oil to Italy was dead. These quarters saw no apparent reason for the scheduled meeting of the League committee of eighteen at Geneva, December 12, when the projected oil embargo is slated for discussion.

CAUSES OPTIMISM
The optimistic viewpoint regarding oil here, informed sources said, was based on the attitude of the

TO AID SEARCH IN ANTARCTICA

Thaw to Fly Relief Plane to Meet Supply Ship in South America

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3 (AP).—Russell W. Thaw, air racer, said today he would take off Friday to aid in the search for Lincoln Ellsworth and Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, unreported on their flight across Antarctica since November 23.

Thaw said he expected to reach Cape Horn, off the southernmost tip of South America, in five days and make contact there with the steamship Wyatt Earp, on which are Sir Hubert Wilkins and other members of the Ellsworth expedition.

Ellsworth and his Winnipeg flight companion were last heard of when their radio communication was broken suddenly as they flew from the Atlantic to the Pacific side of Antarctica in an effort to map the little-known continent.

CONSTABLE HAD ARDUOUS TRIP

J. V. Boys Made Perilous Search Along Banks of Stikine River

Constable J. V. Boys, of the Telegraph Creek post of the Provincial Police, returned safely to his base on Sunday after a hazardous round trip down the Stikine River by dog team in a sub-zero weather search for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simpson, for a time believed isolated on the river.

Constable Boys mushed out from Telegraph Creek soon after fears for the safety of Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, long unreported on the way from that point to Wrangell, became acute. He did not hear of their subsequent safe arrival at Wrangell after thrilling adventures with ice jams on the Stikine River, but searched both banks of the stream for a considerable distance in severe weather.

Returning from a fruitless search conducted at some hazard to himself, Constable Boys reached Telegraph Creek on Sunday, and there learned the missing couple was "safe at Wrangell. Headquarters of the force were advised yesterday of his safe return, after experiences that would have daunted a man of less determination and courage."

AUTONOMY PLAN IS GOING AHEAD

SHANGHAI, Dec. 3 (AP).—Both Japanese and Chinese official diplomatic sources expressed optimism tonight on the possibility of a settlement of the North China crisis based on the Nanking Government's reported plan for virtual autonomy in that region.

As General Ho Ying-Chin, Chinese National Government war minister, reached Peking to continue his talks with North China leaders, a Japanese Embassy spokesman here said the outlook was promising. The autonomy plan, it was understood, would retain the official tie between the North China provinces and Nanking, but would give North China practical independence.

British Exporters of Cotton Goods Want Tariff Readjustment

Dominion Textiles Representative Tells Tariff Board Protection Enjoyed by Canadian Manufacturers Really Lower in Last Few Years

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 (U).—Tariff protection enjoyed by Canadian cotton textile manufacturers as against British imports is lower now than in 1930 by reason of the reduction in the price of raw cotton, G. B. Gordon, of the Dominion Textiles Company, told the tariff board today at a hearing of an application for lower duties sponsored by British manufacturers.

Mr. Gordon brought out his statement as he cross-examined H. G. Hughes, of the British delegation, on the British brief presented earlier in the day.

"We say the duties were much lower in 1930 than they are today," said Mr. Hughes.

"I cannot agree with you in that statement," said Mr. Gordon.

RAW COTTON CHEAPER

He went on to say that the cost of converting raw cotton into the finished product had changed very little in the intervening years but the cost of raw cotton had dropped greatly.

This meant a lower price for the finished product and the Canadian duties were ad valorem percentages plus two cents a pound, whereas in 1930 they were about the same ad valorem rate plus three cents a pound.

Reduction in the per pound rate coupled with a sharp reduction in price and a corresponding reduction in the amount of duty payable under the ad valorem rate reduced the actual protection.

Mr. Hughes said the present duty as a percentage of the conversion cost was much higher than in 1928. "Isn't it true that as the raw material cost goes down the duty as a percentage of the conversion cost goes up?" asked Chairman George H. Sedgewick.

CHAIRMAN AGREES

The chairman agreed with Mr. Gordon that the figures cited by Mr. Hughes were of little value in comparing the actual protection under the 1928 duties with it under the present duties. Mr. Hughes said he would submit comparative figures taking into account the cost of raw materials. He said he merely wanted to show there was foundation for the belief that the present duty was higher than the 1928 rate.

Mr. Hughes told Mr. Gordon he had been led to believe Canadian cotton mills had more modern machinery than Lancashire mills, by statements made in Canada. Mr. Gordon asked if the reason English mills had not more modern machinery was not the fact that they had paid high dividends in pre-war years and neglected to put profits back into the business.

ALL LANCASHIRE MONEY

Mr. Hughes said this was not so, as all the money in the cotton industry was Lancashire money, and even though profits were paid out in dividends, the money was still available in the community for re-investment.

VIOLIN CLASS GIVES RECITAL

Audience of 400 Attends Interesting Performance at Chamber of Commerce

An audience of about 400 parents and other interested listeners attended an unusual programme on Sunday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, when students ranging in age from four to eighteen years gave a demonstration of the results of violin class tuition as carried out by the Columbia School of Music under the system initiated by the National Institute of Music and Arts. Franklin Smith, of Seattle, supervisor of recitals for the institute, was present to hear the proceedings.

In a programme of eighteen numbers, all of which were enthusiastically received, the outstanding incident was the playing of a trio of four-year-old children, Victoria Hughes, Andre Pettitjean, and Lauren Savage. Handling their little instruments with amazing confidence, these tiny performers were the sensation of the afternoon, their numbers being a three-page-long composition entitled "Tick, Tock."

TWO ORCHESTRAS

The juvenile orchestra, comprising about forty children from six to eight years, opened the programme with four numbers; and the junior orchestra, students from twelve to fifteen, brought the recital to an end with five numbers. In each instance the pupils had received their training entirely in the class, none having ever studied the violin prior to a year ago. Bowing and phrasing were exceedingly well done, and the conductor, Brian Burdon-Murphy, was warmly congratulated by Franklin Smith on the unanimity. Among the numbers played by the juveniles were Barnby's "Sweet and Low" and "Twinkling Stars," and the juniors' selections included the Beethoven Minuet in G, Lehar's "Merry Widow Waltz" and the overture of Alford's "Masterblitz."

Other violin numbers were played by students drawn from the class groups. Highly commented upon was the playing of the quartette composed of Raymond Le Huquet, Keith Alexander, Darrell Prezeau, and Wilfred Prevost. A class that had been studying only three months played Hadell's "Lullaby"; another class of five months' tuition contributed another number; Marjorie McTaggart and Marion Beddington played Schubert's "Serenade," and Katherine Seates played Hubay's "Prayer" as a solo.

PIANO NUMBERS

Several piano students of the school also assisted on the programme. Violet Watt's playing of the Chopin D Flat Waltz being especially noted by Mrs. Franklin Smith, herself a pianist of some distinction. Other piano pupils who gave pleasing performances were Marion Stewart, Peggy Reid, little four-year-old Jean McMillan, Pearl Hope, Katherine Hamilton and Jean Mayhew. A guitar ensemble added a touch of variety with two numbers.

As guest artist, Mrs. F. G. Aldous, a favorite contralto, gave two de-

Chamber of Commerce Take Steps to Help Bring Film Industry Here

W. T. Strath, president of the Chamber of Commerce, on behalf of that organization, and also as a solicitor for Isadore Barsky and George Schneiderman, motion picture representatives, yesterday telegraphed to the Minister of Customs at Ottawa, asking for an early decision on the question of removing the duty on motion-picture equipment brought into this country.

The Chamber of Commerce also has got in touch with Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, urging him to take up Victoria's case with the Minister of Customs.

Efforts also are being made to get in touch with Hon. John Hart, now en route to Ottawa, to make representations on behalf of Victoria's case for a removal of the duty on motion-picture equipment.

Just as soon as the duty has been removed, Mr. Strath stated, Mr. Barsky and Mr. Schneiderman will telegraph $2,500 to the City Council, after which work will immediately begin on assembling the equipment for shipment here so that a start can be made on the first of two pictures, which are to be completed before March 31.

For a number of years he was a printer on Nanaimo papers. During the war he acted as editor of the local Port Alberni News while the editor, Major "Dick" Burde, was overseas. For some years he operated a moving picture house at Ladysmith. For the last few years he had managed the local moving picture theatre.

At the time of his death he was the exalted ruler of the local Elks Lodge. Besides being a prominent member of the Buffalo Lodge, he is survived by his widow and three children, Alice, Harold and Evelyn, all residing here. Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the local Elks Lodge.

into amounts of £200,000,000 and £100,000,000.

The £200,000,000 funding loan, a 2-1/2 per cent issue, is offered at 96-1/2, and the £100,000,000 bond issue, at 1 per cent, is offered at 98. The former matures 1956-61 and the latter 1939-41.

It was the first time in the history of the Treasury that it was able to arrange a loan at a nominal rate of 1 per cent.

MOST FOR REFUNDING

Half the proceeds of the two issues will be devoted to redeeming an issue of 2 per cent bonds maturing 1935-36, made in 1932.

Part of the proceeds will be used to redeem an issue of £44,000,000 3 per cent bonds.

The transaction was the largest Government loan operation since the 5 per cent war loan conversion of 1932. Informed London circles believe a succession of bond issues will follow, though not involving such a large sum as the present. Financial circles anticipate an amount will be earmarked to finance industrial reconstruction in depression-suffering districts and for rehabilitation of the nation's railroads.

lions of John I. McFarland, D. L. Smith and H. C. Grant, all of Winnipeg, named to the board by the former Bennett administration last August.

Mr. Murray has been vice-president and general manager of the Alberta Pacific Grain Company.

Associated with former Chairman McFarland for several years, Mr. McIvor has been manager of the selling agency of the board. Dean Shaw is head of the faculty of agriculture of the University of Saskatchewan.

EXTENT OF HOLDINGS

At the close of the crop year last July 31, the Dominion Government was involved in wheat holdings to an amount of $200,000,000 approximately. The figures were given by former Premier Bennett shortly before prorogation. Since the change of Government, no statement has been given on the extent of the Dominion's obligations since that time. The new board chairman, who was present tonight when the minister made his announcements, declined to make any statement on the situation.

ROME, Dec. 3.—Premier Mussolini sharpened his weapons for an economic war today, with the approval of his ministers.

FURLOUGHS CANCELLED

In addition to numerous other precautionary steps, Il Duce was reported to have withdrawn all naval leaves. Full efficiency of his million-man army was assured several days ago by the cancellation of furloughs of 100,000 men.

Conservation of oil was the main object of the Cabinet meeting today, but food, commerce, finance, the army, navy and air force all received consideration and fifty-two decrees were endorsed.

SIGNIFICANT SKIRMISH

WITH THE ITALIAN TROOPS AT MAKALE, Ethiopia, Dec. 3 (AP).—Italy's Eritrean troops met the main body of the Ethiopian northern army today in a minor clash at outposts on the Dolo-Makale line. The fighting was over quickly. The Ethiopians retiring almost immediately. One Italian white soldier was reported wounded. The enemy losses were not known.

Authorities considered the skirmish significant because it indicated strong forces on both sides now are within reach of each other.

DUTY REVISION IS BEING URGED

Alan Chambers, Liberal Candidate, Telegraphs Ottawa on Behalf Of Tomato Growers

Representation has been made to Ottawa by Alan Chambers, Liberal candidate in the Nanaimo Federal riding at the recent election, on behalf of Vancouver Island tomato growers.

Mr. Chambers, in a telegram to the Dominion Government, urged a revision in the duties on tomatoes.

His telegram reads as follows: "With reference to United States trade agreement, would urge that fullest consideration be given to representations of British Columbia tomato growers now being presented to you at Ottawa through G. W. Riddle, president, that usual duties be maintained from April 15 to October 15, as formerly. The crop in the Nanaimo Federal district alone is worth $40,000 annually and will be very seriously affected."

CASH BALANCE IS EXPECTED

School Board Within Estimates—Shortage in Sinking Fund Reported

While it is expected that the City Council will close the year with a deficit, it was learned yesterday that the school board would end the year with a small cash balance, having kept within its estimates throughout the year, despite the need for many repairs to school buildings.

It was learned at the City Hall yesterday that the earnings in the sinking fund this year amount to approximately $80,000.

Inasmuch as the council at the beginning of the year passed a resolution on the insistence of Alderman P. R. Brown that any earnings be applied to meet in part the 1935 sinking fund requirements, the shortage in the sinking fund will not be as great as at first expected.

This year's requirements amounted to approximately $250,000, so that the shortage will be only $160,000 if the $80,000 in sinking fund earnings is kept intact in the sinking fund.

This will be the first time for a great many years, if not in the history of Victoria, that there has been a shortage in the sinking fund.

Compared with other cities, Victoria's position is a sound one. For instance, Vancouver is reported to have a shortage amounting to nearly $7,000,000 in its sinking fund.

Bread Price in City Increased

The retail price of bread increased one cent in the city yesterday, and the wholesale price half a cent. Leaves are now being sold in stores and at the door for eight cents each. Previously the price at the stores was seven cents a loaf, and at the door eight cents a loaf, or two for fifteen cents.

The wholesale price has been raised from six to six and a half cents.

Harness Business Not What It Was

WAUKESHA, Wis., Dec. 3 (AP).—After fifty years as a harness maker Edward Brown, seventy, gave up when he reflected that he hadn't made a complete harness in the last decade. "Fellows like us aren't needed any more, I guess," he said, and closed his shop.

MAY CONTEST

G. B. Crump, 2201 Chambers Street, Takes Out Papers—Is Undecided

G. B. Crump, of 2201 Chambers Street, yesterday took out nomination papers for mayor, but there is some doubt as to whether he will actually file them.

Questioned last night, Mr. Crump said that he had not determined whether he would run. He denied he was taking the nomination papers out of the City Hall for any one else.

Should he decide to run, and should he be qualified to do so, a contest in every field of the civic election would then take place. So far Mayor David Leeming is unopposed, and members of the City Council at various times have announced their intention not to run against the chief magistrate.

Revive Mining in Trentino District

ROME, Dec. 3 (CP-Havas).—The Italian Government today approved development of mineral resources in the Trentino district, in an effort to increase production of lignite, iron, lead, copper, iron, zinc, slate, coal and tungsten. Tests will be made for new deposits and abandoned mines will be reopened.

Trekkers Lured to Alberta by Hope of Obtaining Dividend

Prairie Province Becomes Winter Base Instead of Pacific Coast as Homeless Men Seek to Establish Residence for Social Credit Bonus

CALGARY, Dec. 3 (C.P.).—The lure of $25 a month has made Alberta cities the mecca of many end-of-the-year trekkers who used to make their winter base on the Pacific Coast, it was indicated today by a survey at the Alberta Relief Commission office and other places.

Provincial relief officials at Edmonton, however, did not see any greater movement of transients than usual at this time of year. "Of course, a number are coming in," it was stated at the Alberta capital by one official, "and we have tried to combat the idea that they might establish residence here in order to be ready for the payment of basic dividends."

FROM EAST AND WEST
Calgary reported single jobless men arriving on freight trains from both the East and West. More than 2,000 single men were reported awaiting camp assignments in Calgary.

Orders Policeman To Be Prosecuted

TORONTO, Dec. 3 (C.P.).—The use of firearms by the police is a very serious matter," declared Attorney-General Robertson today. He ordered that plainclothesman James Leslie, of Toronto police, be prosecuted for shooting Nelson Gagnon, twenty-three, while arresting the youth on a car theft charge here October 28. Gagnon is in serious condition at a hospital.

NINE MORE NOMINATED

Candidates Now Definitely In Civic Election Race Total Thirteen

Nine more nomination papers of candidates in the civic election were filed with M. P. Hunter, returning officer and city clerk, yesterday. This brings the number now definitely in the field up to thirteen, four others having filed their nomination papers on Saturday.

Nominations will close at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and to comply with the Municipal Act, the city clerk will be present in the council chamber from 12 o'clock noon until 2 p.m. to receive nominations of candidates.

Those who filed their papers yesterday were as follows:

FOR MAYOR
David Leeming, 729 Linden Avenue, mayor; proposed by James Forman, 1000 Terrace Avenue, estate agent; seconded by Robert Alexander Campbell Dewar, 1110 Pembroke Street, operator.

FOR ALDERMAN
Alice Emily McGregor, 1190 Camrose Crescent, widow; proposed by George McGregor, 1032 Cloverdale Avenue, steamship agent; seconded by Mildred A. E. Hamlet, 1007 Amphion Street, housewife.

John Arthur Worthington, 247 Government Street, broker; proposed by James Forman, 1000 Terrace Avenue, estate agent; seconded by John A. Scott, 1128 Collinson Street, merchant.

Robert Alexander Campbell Dewar, 1110 Pembroke Street, operator; proposed by James Forman, 1000 Terrace Avenue, estate agent; seconded by Robert William Nunn, 3015 Quadra Street, operator.

Thomas William Cullum Hawkins, 113 Gorge Road, retired; proposed by William Thomas Strath, 1524 Gladstone Avenue, lawyer; seconded by John Cochran, 815 Linden Avenue, retail druggist.

Young Voter Didn't Vote

Through some mysterious error, the name of four-year-old Judith Marilyn Brooks, of Craythott, Epsom, Surrey, appeared on the list of electors for that district. Taking the electors at their word, Judith turned up to cast her ballot in the recent elections. But the authorities pointed out that she was liable to a fine of one hundred pounds if she chose to vote before she had obtained her majority. Photo shows Judith Brooks and her mother arriving at the polling station.

AVENUE, CONTRACTOR; PROPOSED BY
William Henry Bland, 419 Powell Street, druggist; seconded by Mark Parritt, 1312 Vining Street, contractor.

FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE
Walter Ernest Steneland, 1707 Richmond Avenue, manager; proposed by William Thomas Strath, 1524 Gladstone Avenue, lawyer; seconded by George Mellor, 1120 Oxford Street, merchant.

Kenneth Ferguson, 1418 Fernwood Road, insurance manager; proposed by James Forman 1000 Terrace Avenue, estate agent; seconded by George Jay, 1321 Hampshire Road, magistrate.

Arthur Colville Pike, 39 Linden Avenue, engineer; proposed by W. A. Luney, 360 Poul Bay Road, contractor; seconded by S. L. Wilson, 610 Michigan Street, photo engraver.

Others who have already filed their papers are Alderman Alex Peden and Stanley Okell, for alderman; and F. G. Mulliner and Trustee Charles R. Bishop, for school trustee.

WINTER FAIR OPENS AT ARMORIES TODAY

silver and black. By means of clever workmanship in dressed lumber and wallboard, the booths instantly give the impression of having been fashioned out of heavy beams.

Nearly 2,000 electric light globes have been used to create the effect of a soft, diffused glow around the exhibits. All signs are of cut-out letters silhouetted against a glowing background. The booths are arranged in the form of streets with plenty of room to pass from one to another.

At one end of the Armories a large stage has been fitted up, also illuminated by diffused lights. A public address system has been installed for relaying announcements and musical attractions. Seats will be provided for the convenience of spectators who wish to enjoy the music, singing and vaudeville in comfort.

MIDWAY PROVIDED
All the atmosphere of a Summer fair will be created by the midway with its games, hot dogs, colored lemonade and persuasive barker. William Harkness, master of leg-demon, is to perform his escape, while shackled, from a sealed and locked tank. Many other outstanding attractions are being prepared for the four days of the Fair and Bazaar.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the fair will be opened to the public. The first important event will be The Daily Colonist Baby Show, featuring the largest collection of babies ever assembled at one time in the city. William J. Herbert, of the Colonist editorial staff, will be the official announcer. His voice is familiar to many broadcast listeners of Victoria.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Provincial Minister of Lands and Municipalities, accompanied by Mayor David Leeming, will declare the fair officially open at 8 o'clock this evening. Today will be Victoria Day at the exhibition. Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay will be honored on the succeeding days.

OPTOMETRIST BACK FROM PRAIRIE TRIP TO BRANCH OFFICE

Harry S. Hay, optometrist, Fort Street, returned to the city yesterday from Saskatoon. Mr. Hay has been absent for the past two months, his visit being in the interest of his branch office in that city.

WILL ADVISE ON FORESTRY

National Committee in Touch With Research Council Suggested

Creation of an advisory committee of foresters, research experts and industrialists, which would make recommendations in respect to improvement in technical advances in the lumber industry, has been suggested by the National Research Council at Ottawa, and a recommendation to that effect will go forward to the Federal Government, P. Z. Caverhill, chief forester of the province, said yesterday.

Mr. Caverhill attended the sessions of the council's sub-committee on forestry on his way home from South Africa, where he attended the fourth Empire Forestry Conference at Durban.

READY FOR TRADE
Sentiment favorable to Canadian trade with South Africa is pronounced in the tropical Dominion, where a degree of prosperity is in evidence, Mr. Caverhill stated. Large building programmes are under way in some parts of South Africa, attended also by incoming settlers.

South Africa has increased her lumber purchases from Canada two-fold in recent years, imports of 13,000,000 board feet a year, rising to 28,000,000 board feet last year, and to 23,000,000 board feet in ten months of the current season.

Sixty delegates at the conference, drawn from all Empire forest stations, were magnificently treated at the convention, and saw much of the country and its resources, Mr. Caverhill concluded. He will present his formal report to the Government shortly.

FOUR MEN KILLED IN PRISON BREAKS

flush any of the fugitives out of their supposed hiding-places in the rugged foothills and settled down to an all-night siege.

Four of the quintette were Irish O'Malley gangsters, members of one of the worst kidnapping-bank robbing gangs that ever roamed the Southwest. Officers were prepared tonight for another bloody fight like that marking the actual break in which John Blackburn, of Conover, Wis., arrested on a mail sack theft charge, was killed, and Detective Chief Ben Bolton wounded dangerously.

DRAWS GUN SUDDENLY

Shortly before noon, the wife of one O'Malley gangster, Dan Heady, kissed him good-bye after a jail visit. As she left, Heady flashed a gun. Seizing more guns in the jail arsenal as Heady covered an attendant, these six dashed toward freedom: Heady, Dewey, Gilmore, Russell, Cooper and Leonard Short, all O'Malley gangsters; Don Garrett, Mann Act violator, and Blackburn.

Detective Chief Bolton raised his gun to block the convicts' way and was shot through the head. Police Chief Marsh Corgan appeared in time to wound Blackburn fatally during the flight from prison to the automobile of Rev. N. H. Hickman, which the fugitives commandeered.

is able to end this terrible dispute, every lover of peace in Europe will be grateful and thankful—provided always the conditions laid down are the conditions obtained."

UNDUE PROMINENCE

Criticism of the part played by Britain in applying League of Nations sanctions against Italy had been given undue prominence, declared Mr. Baldwin. "A country with an influence like ours surely had to shoulder the responsibilities that face all nations," he said. "In conjunction with other countries, Great Britain will explore whether there is an honorable way of bringing to cessation the East African conflict, on terms that command themselves to both parties to the dispute and to the League."

Increased armaments was the real point of the speech from the Throne, declared Major Atlee, and he described the rest as merely window-dressing and trimmings.

To the Opposition leader's criticism of the 1919 treaties binding European nations, the Prime Minister replied that the modification of existing treaties was one thing but their unilateral repudiation meant only "the rule of force."

PROTECTING TREATIES

Modern Europe, said Mr. Baldwin, was determined to prevent the tearing up of treaties, and this determination was revealed by recent events in which a country which enjoyed the friendship of all other countries in Europe had been declared the aggressor in East Africa and subjected to economic sanctions under the League Covenant.

As the debate got under way, all speakers commenced by referring to the death of Princess Victoria early today and expressing the sympathy of the House for her brother, the King. The speech from the Throne opening Parliament at noon today was read by the Lord Chancellor, Viscount Halifax, with none of the pomp and pageantry which attends a State opening of Parliament.

Prizes Presented To Junior W.A.

The annual meeting of St. Mary's Junior W.A. to the M.S.C.C. was held recently in St. Mary's Hall. Following the business, the moneys made during the year were distributed to the various causes for which the W.A. works. A large number of gifts were also sent to the Christmas sale.

Miss Joy Harness was again elected secretary. Silver badges were presented by the diocesan secretary, Miss O. Checkley, as follows: Dorothy Ellis, Betty Kyall, Marjory Cross, Joy Harness and Audrey Patterson for one year's perfect attendance; special badges, taking the place of ribbons, were presented to Isabel Clay, Kathleen Gray, Margery Symonds, Dorothy Burrows, Jean Harness, Nora Hughes, Gwen Hughes, Bernice Hughes, Janice Patterson, Barbara Porter, Marjory Atwell, Mary Clarke and Phyllis Corbett for more than three years' perfect attendance. Prizes which had been donated by friends were presented by Mrs. Collin Cummins, who also gave the children a talk on the Sunday school by post.

Prizes were given by Rev. Canon Nunn to the girls bringing the largest number of new members. Mrs. Burrows thanked her helpers and all friends for their interest and help during the year. Tea and games brought the meeting to a close.

mittee, composed of himself, Alderman C. E. Tisdall and the mayor.

MAYOR NOT WORRIED

Mayor McGeer said he was not worried about his Federal seat, expressed no surprise at Alderman Harvey's decision, and declared the audit probe may be the forerunner of a general shakeup at the City Hall, where he was "quite satisfied that a complete reorganization is now overdue."

The attempt to unseat the mayor was started when William Simpkin instituted quo warranto proceedings calling on Judge J. N. Ellis to show by what authority he supports his claim to senior judge of the County Court of Vancouver. Under the recount held by Judge Ellis, Mayor McGeer was declared elected over Arnold Webster, C.C.P., by a margin of six votes.

CONTESTS STATUS

Simpkin contends that Judge A. M. Harper is the senior County Court judge and that Judge Ellis was not qualified to hold the recount.

A similar action to force a recount was dismissed in Supreme Court on a technicality shortly after Mayor McGeer was declared elected. Alderman Harvey announced he

OIL AND TROUBLED WATERS

The Government at Ottawa has dissociated itself from the proposal made at Geneva by Dr. Walter A. Riddell urging the extension of sanctions against Italy to include oil. The matter is not of world-shaking import, just purely one of internal concern. It involves the extent to which any Canadian representative at Geneva has authority to make a proposal or record a vote. Dr. Riddell is a permanent representative of the Government at Geneva, being known as an advisory officer. Apparently his duties have not been defined or else he has mistaken them. There is no intimation from Ottawa as to why there should be an official stand against Canada having advanced such a proposal at Geneva. The corollary of such a stand might well be that if an embargo on oil going to Italy is imposed Canada will not agree to such a sanction. In any case, this country has officially gone back on its representative, and to that extent the country's place at the councils of Geneva is weakened.

It is an unhappy spectacle when any country disclaims responsibility assumed by its official representative at an international council table. It is a particularly humiliating position for Dr. Riddell. He has been nationally rebuked in the eyes of the world. His position at Geneva in future, if he remains there, will be that of an official who had better keep his mouth closed until words are put into it after consultation with Ottawa. He will simply be a rubber stamp.

Dr. Riddell is much to be pitied. The fact that this country has disavowed any intention of taking the initiative in the extension of sanctions, as has been suggested, does not really matter at all, as Canada has no oil for export. The troubled waters of international affairs remain as they were. In the new tempest in a teapot Dr. Riddell is the only sufferer.

CLOSING RELIEF CAMPS

The decision to close relief camps for single men in the course of the next twelve months is based on the belief that the policy of work and wages will have been well established by the time that such methods of handling unemployment is to be ended. Those camps have been well conducted. They have filled a useful purpose. It is not for anyone to say that such purpose does not any longer exist, and if unemployment continues some other method will have to be devised to take the place of the relief camps.

The present Government realizes that because of the abortive "march to Ottawa" by relief camp strikers it is necessary to gratify public opinion by a decision to put an end to these camps. Moreover, the Government believes that the camps are a fertile ground for the work of agitators. Presumably the men to be disbanded will, in a majority of cases, go on relief in the cities. It is not stated that hereafter they will be furnished in this respect by the Federal Government alone. It may be that the Provinces and the municipalities will have to bear a share of the cost.

The whole question of unemployment relief is to be discussed at the forthcoming conference between Federal and Provincial authorities at Ottawa. It would be well if, added to this, were a discussion on ways and means to abolish unemployment itself. Apparently, however, the main issue at Ottawa will be as to who should foot the cost of relief in the future, which implies a very definite belief that unemployment will continue, despite the decision of the Federal Government to close relief camps on the ground that they will become unnecessary.

THRIFT

Hand-in-hand with the policy of balanced budgets in Great Britain goes the campaign for thrift. It is accomplishing very substantial results and is assisting more than anything else in advancing a new era of prosperity. What Lord Eustace Percy calls the focussed action of the Government has brought about a great united movement as a result of which there now stands to the credit of the people of small means a sum of £27,233,000,000, which represents a growth in five years of £548,000,000. Lord Eustace believes that at the National Savings Movement is a powerful agency in building up a society of the future very different from the society of the immediate past.

Thrift as designed in Great Britain is not a movement to bring about saving as an end in itself. It regards miserliness as an evil as bad as reckless extravagance. What is connoted by thrift in the National Savings Movement is the putting aside of money in order to spend it later on; the postponement of the gratification of some immediate desire in order to achieve a wider purpose. It is considered that this kind of thrift has a moral as well as a purely economic aspect and that "it ranks high among the essentials of a healthy and well-ordered national life." Thrift is, in effect, wise saving for wise spending.

TOWARDS CHRISTIAN UNITY

The announcement by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for years a most generous donor to American Baptist work, that he had discontinued giving to denominational bodies is an illustration of the growing desire, especially among the laity, for a greater degree of Christian unity. Giving the reason for his changed policy, Mr. Rockefeller asserts that "the denominational emphasis is a divisive force in the programme of Christian work," and therefore retards the best interests of the coming generation. His action is in the nature of bringing a boycott to bear upon the churches to induce unified action. Whatever criticism may be made of his method of approach, his objective is a worthy one.

The Christian forces of the world are confronting a new situation in the twentieth century. A widespread uprising of materialism is challenging the very foundations of Christianity, and of the church systems which are its expression. The practical issue is not as to varieties of doctrine or modes of worship, or even between Christianity and other religions, but between faith and godlessness, between religion and its negation. Whatever need there has been for sectarianism is fast passing away, if it is not already gone. The need today is to stand together on the fundamentals of faith. Christendom should hasten the closing of its sectarian ranks.

RUSSIA'S "MISSING LINKS"

One of the amenities of life which is to be permitted to the hardly-tasked Russians is the game of golf. The courses will be officially built, officially supervised and doubtless the rules of the game will be officially promulgated. Golf in many senses is a particularly individualistic game. It would be hard to continue it as a sport if the individualism is abandoned. Russia is flirting with the competitive spirit in introducing golf. The proletarian spirit does not believe in any member of that party being "one up" on another. Moscow may have failed to visualize the possibilities of the display of individualism in golf and the effect that it may exercise on the industrial and business life of the Soviet realm. From the standpoint of the world the innovation in Russia will be welcomed as likely to make the country more humane in its outlook. There cannot be too many of the "missing links" established, even under Soviet dictation, to please humanity at large.

If youth with all the advantages of modern education is not finding the opportunities of making the best of life it is pertinent to ask if it is doing all it should to create those opportunities for itself. After all, as Mr. S. Udry says in The Contemporary Review, "the last word lies with the child. The end of school is to launch him on the game of the Great Life, with the ball in his hands. It implies, like all sport, the passion of individuality, with—in loyalty, sacrifice and fellowship—the eucharistic outlook. It springs from and strives for self-expression. There is a call—and room surely today in the Church school and in all schools throughout all lands—for the sake of society no less than for that of the individual—to reconceive our ideal of education—"To take a thought and mend."

Too many Governments in this country have an unhappy knack of slighting the knowledge of their own employees. That is illustrated by the number of inquiries held by Royal Commissions and other bodies into matters about which all the information is easily ascertainable by the Governments themselves. Premier Abernethy of Alberta now has a Montreal actuary making a financial survey of the Province. He will discover nothing that is not known to the permanent officials, nothing that is not on file in the Government Buildings at Edmonton. He will not even be able to say how long Alberta must go on borrowing to keep a Provincial Government functioning.

There is no form of human malady for which there is a wider range of human remedies than the common cold. Many are so simple as almost to be ludicrous. There is one that advocates the taking of a pinch of snuff morning and evening. If this is to be believed it is possible to sneeze a cold away. Another simple remedy is a heaped teaspoonful of ordinary soda bicarbonate taken in a half-pint tumblerful of hot water four times in twenty-four hours. This, according to its proponent, "works like magic" within seventy-two hours therapeutically and twenty-four hours prophylactically. Meantime the cause of the common cold seems to remain as obscure as ever.

THE HELMSMAN'S PART

Trust not to chance.
Chance will not do the work; chance sends the breeze.
But if the pilot slumber at the helm
The very wind that wafts us toward the port
Mr. dash us on the shelves;
The steersman's part is vigilance
Blow it rough or smooth.

Note and Comment

By R. E. D.

Accuse not Nature, she hath done her part;
Do, then, but this.

—Milton.

A people who are still, as it were, but in the strife, and not yet hardened into the bone of manhood.—Burke.

"On with the dance; let joy be unconfined!" There is something infectious in that invitation to the dance—if you happen to be young and the blood is warm. Canada is young; her heart is strong, and warm red blood is coursing through her veins. What is eighty years in the life of a nation? There is a new Government in Canada, and invitations have been issued for a grand ball which will begin a new political and economic era. All Canadians have been invited to join in the dance, but representatives of nearly all the other nations in the world may come over and take part in the joyful celebration if they care to do so. The bars to international trade and social communion have been up long enough. They are going to be pulled right down to the ground, but if the spirit of the dance be generally accepted, gaps in the tariff walls may be made here and there, and as the movement gathers momentum international trade may become as free as the birds of the mountain.

The leader of the dance will be Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, and we can see him in our mind's eye, like reincarnated Pickwick, dancing round the joyous circle and down the centre, swinging his partners and as light of foot as a young fawn.

All the above is merely fantastic and figurative, but it is capable of a literal interpretation. A change is impending in the affairs of Canada. If anticipations are realized, a change may be impending in the affairs of the nations. Some of the barriers against national trade are going to be pulled down on the first day of the new year, and the new Prime Minister has said that the example set by Canada may be the beginning of a new chapter in international history. Not only is there going to be a new trade policy, there is going to be a new immigration policy. Canada, a country capable of accommodating and possibly supporting at least a hundred millions of people, is at present accommodating and indifferently supporting about ten millions of people. Yet the bars are up against immigration, and there are interests which insist that the bars must be kept up. Whenever reforms are proposed there are always antagonistic interests cropping up.

There was a time in the history of Canada when the people and the politicians believed that this country could never amount to much until it had a population commensurate with the extent of its territory. In those days immigrants were not only encouraged to come in; they were paid to come in, when the value of every immigrant was capitalized at a certain amount as a potential producer of wealth. A glance at the history of both Canada and the United States reveals the fact that the most prosperous period of the two nations was the period during which Atlantic steamships were crowded with immigrants, most of them bound for the Western States, but many of them looking forward to a new and better life in many parts of Canada. The depression has been contemporaneous with the erection of barriers against immigrants.

It will be contended that it is folly to talk about bringing more people into Canada when there are billions unemployed. There is something in that contention. It must seem illogical to contemplate bringing more people in when there are so many willing to work who cannot find work to do. Possibly when the Prime Minister expounds his immigration policy he may be able to give a satisfactory answer to the objection. Mr. King may argue that our small population is not rationally or economically distributed; that the balance as between the cities and the rural districts has not been properly adjusted. But that is a condition which seems to be common to all countries, and it is the perplexing feature of the situation. It is a condition which prevails even in Great Britain, where the city of London is said to be increasing in population and wealth faster than any city in the world.

Mr. King is undertaking to promote a larger and more equitable distribution of the trade of the world. That is a bold experiment, and even the Prime Minister's political opponents must wish him success in his undertaking. But his reported scheme for a better distribution of the population of the world is more important to Canada, for population is both the basis and the life of trade, and the volume of trade depends upon the number of people who sustain and extend that trade. In considering this question, which may become a vital issue in Canada, the quality of the immigrants will be an important factor. Without disparagement of any race,

The Colonist may be procured at the International News Stand, of Messrs. Selfridge & Co., Oxford Street.

It may be said that there are countries capable of furnishing desirable future citizens and other countries which might furnish future citizens of doubtful quality. We have only to consider the experience of the United States and examine our own criminal statistics to realize the truth of that statement.

Let There Be Light

A number of the people used to go to the University Extension Lectures for the purpose of learning something, and in order to get it straight, made notes as the lecturer went along. Yes, they included the newspapersmen. Now they turn out the lights in the auditorium and no one but the lecturer can see. Notes of lectures are useful to students and always important to newspapermen.—R.A.G.

Reciprocity, however, is nothing new. The United States wouldn't have hockey without Canadian players and quite a number of our football teams, in the Canadian game, would never experience the joy of having their faces rubbed in frozen mud if it wasn't for importation from across the border. Ninety per cent of the Canadian grid players are American-born.—J.D.

"My First Dollar"

"I had just turned twenty when I was apprenticed in 1900 to a firm of Edinburgh civil engineers, for four years. My parents paid 400 guineas for the privilege. I received no pay while learning the business, but was loaned to another firm that was surveying a $12,000,000 ship canal from the Firth of Forth westward to the Atlantic coast. It was never built. When my indenture was up, I received six pounds a month, or thirty dollars, and that was considered good in those days. My informant in the foregoing is now widely known as a Canadian civil engineer with supervision of contracts running into eight figures, yearly.—S.G.

Slightly Time Worn

We did not see this, we only heard it. A Michigan Street man decided to move to the district near the Junction, but did not want to trust his valuable grandfather clock to the furniture movers. Early one evening he shouldered the massive timepiece and bravely started for the new home. After several rests he finally found a position where his back took all the weight, but he had to keep his head well down. Approaching his destination, he unfortunately ran into a man and knocked him down with a swinging blow from the top of the clock. The man roared: "Hey, you ignorant fool, why the blazes don't you buy a wrist watch?" Did you ever see a window dresser pull a pin through his hair before driving it in to hold up crepe paper? Our tobacconist friend tells us that oil in the hair lubricates the pin and enables one to hammer it without it bending. We hear the singing policeman on the local force has an arresting voice and never misses a beat.—O.B.

MARK MCCLUNG IS RHODES SCHOLAR

Is Second of Family to Win Opportunity to Extend Education in England

EDMONTON, Dec. 3 (P)—University of Alberta Rhodes Scholar for 1935-36 is Mark McClung, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McClung, of Victoria, formerly of Calgary and Winnipeg. The new Rhodes Scholar's mother is Nellie McClung, the noted Canadian author. Award of the scholarship was made known on Saturday.

A student in Honors Philosophy, Mr. McClung's university career was marked by brilliant scholastic success. He has been at the University of Alberta for five years and during that time he has taken an active part in student affairs.

The new Rhodes Scholar expects to leave for Oxford in the Fall and intends to spend three years overseas. A brother, Jack, solicitor in the Provincial Attorney-General's Department, brought a similar honor to the family on the conclusion of his career at the University of Alberta by winning the I.O.D.E. Scholarship, which enabled him to spend a year in the Old Country.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of December 4, 1889)

The Railway—An extra train was run from Yale on Wednesday in order to bring the balance of the rolling stock to Port Moody. The mails and passengers were taken with the train. Messrs. Reed and Clarke, with Master Mechanic Armstrong, proceeded to Yale the same evening, where the valuers will estimate the value of the locomotives. After this is completed, they will return to Victoria and proceed home over the Northern Pacific. Unless other arrangements are made, this will close the road and the railway will be placed in a very precarious position. However, it is trusted that the representations that have been made to the Federal Government will induce them to continue the service.

Scotch Creek—A large number of miners have gone into Scotch Creek since the reports were made public a few weeks ago of the richness of the creek. This creek is a tributary of the Fraser, and the miners are running down to the mouth of the creek. Both white and Chinese miners have gone in and it is thought that next Summer a large camp will be there, the prospects having turned out so well.

Public Schools—The Christmas examinations for entrance to High School will commence this afternoon in the Central School at 1 o'clock. All applicants should be present prior to the time named.

FRIENDS HONOR FORMER MEMBER

Farwell Presentation Made at Duncan to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dickie

DUNCAN, Dec. 3.—A very pleasant ceremony took place at Queen Margaret's School on Saturday afternoon when many friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dickie made them a presentation and bid them farewell.

Rev. A. Bischoff was in the chair and said the idea of a presentation arose among personal friends who desired to show their affection and to express appreciation of many years of public service. Dr. W. B. Clayton, who acted as treasurer of the committee, read a financial statement of receipts and moved its adoption. F. H. Price seconded it as a friend of over fifty years standing. Mr. Dickie was then presented with a purse containing nearly six hundred dollars. Mrs. Dickie was presented with a framed picture of a Cowichan River scene on the back of which were inscribed the names of subscribers to the appreciation fund.

Mr. Dickie, expressing his thanks, said he was not beaten yet, but would go on playing the game to the end and with renewed strength and inspiration because of the great friendship shown him.

Tea was served by Mrs. W. T. Corbally, Mrs. A. E. Robinson, Mrs. J. Fletcher and Mrs. A. Bischoff.

CITY VS. ALIEN INVESTMENTS

Sir,—Could we only induce a few of the financial and economy writers in your columns to transfer to city development even a half of the energy they expend upon the principles of banking, it would help give the city the impetus so vitally needed at this time.

Those among us who have lost money on alien bonds, or encountered some trouble with local mortgages, simply failed to properly check the securities offered. Mortgage money in the future will in all probability be loaned on some manner of installment plan payment, as to principal and interest, satisfactory to the mortgagor. In any event, in the checking of securities, the market value, yearly revenue, the most dangerous of all the details, that of cost, are only a few of the angles applicable in proving as nearly as possible the then actual value. The investor who first satisfies himself or herself what the value should be or is most liable to be at any given date of maturity seldom, if ever, has cause to regret the investment, whether local or alien.

Of course we all know that a safe bond is a fractional part of a first mortgage, and it is axiomatic that as the total amount of mortgage increases, the security proportionately decreases. My opinion is that the sound investment limit for any loan is 50 per cent of the actual liquid value of the security offered, coupled with the personnel of the mortgagors. There are other experienced valuers who disagree, placing the limit under any condition at only 40 per cent.

And now a word as to home-owning. Every good citizen should own a home, and failing cash to purchase, it seems to me the ideal system is to build or reconstruct by way of inclusive monthly payments over an arranged period of years; such payments to cover every possible expense for the period—lot, building, insurance, taxes, water, light, repair, etc., and such payer to retain a given equity in the event of a failure to continue payments to the end of the period. Many hundreds of tenants have actually paid years, more or less than $4,500 in cash—to own absolutely nothing!

Come on, gentlemen, show us how we can build and reconstruct homes—out of nothing, thin "cold" air, mere scratch of pen, clear blue sky, etc! WILLIAM H. DAVIES, 1008 Broad Street, Victoria, B.C., November 28, 1935.

WAR AND RELIGION

Sir,—In view of the teaching given every Sunday evening by Dr. Clem Davies on "War," I should like to bring into the light the dislike to bring into the light the appointment and bewilderment of many of his hearers. Most people find his talks interesting and helpful until he gets on to war, and then most of us are horrified and so sorry. I am writing especially for mothers of sons. I know dozens of them who are both pacifists and peace-makers, and who daily thank God for men like Mr. Lansbury and Dick Sheppard in England; men who have taken the sword out of Christianity and have enrolled in a peace army a million men who promise never to take part in war again because war is contrary to the mind of Christ.

As Dr. Davies said on Tuesday afternoon, only peaceable people can make peace, and the man who ends war will be the man with the loving heart. The savage and bloodthirsty Old Testament prophets whom Dr. Davies loves to quote were incapable of understanding the words "love" or "peace," but as they evolved a higher type of character, we see, as in Isaiah, the Prince of Peace, who will be the suffering servant of the people. Why, then, turn back to the barbarous precepts of an earlier and less civilized people? And why not always bear in mind that the sword of Biblical phraseology is today a bomb.

One must drop all poetical and picturesque language and be literal when speaking of war. The "consecrated force" of the Archbishop of York means nothing less than consecrated bombs and consecrated poison gas. And when mentioned in connection with either of these horrors, the word "consecrate" is desecrated.

According to Dr. Davies, Christ will shortly appear on Mount Olivet with a sword in his hand, and God will meet the British troops in the Mediterranean.

In 1914 my young brother, aged fifteen or sixteen, was a cadet in training at Gibraltar. He and his companions were mobilized, some killed and many maimed for life. It is difficult to imagine the Lord and Giver of Life bombing a battleship full of young boys, but in what other way could God appear literally to aid the British than by killing the Italian boys? How, in that eventually, we could worship and glorify Him, we must leave Dr. Clem Davies to answer.

"War," says our dean, "may be a regrettable necessity." Well, perhaps so in a sinful world, but leave religion out of it. If one may be regrettably obliged to sin in one respect, and to have that sin consecrated by our bishops, what is to prevent them consecrating other sins should necessity arise, and if, after having in the last few years again and again denounced war as a hideous sin, the church, now, in order to be loyal to the League of Nations, condemns that sin, how are we to follow her lead in other directions? What does "absolute love" mean in the light of a "consecrated war"? How can a Christian love his enemy while he is stabbing him in the stomach with a bayonet? What does "surrender" mean if we are not to surrender our fear of another nation attacking us?

People often say to me: "Well, what would you do if England were invaded?" I think if it came to that point, the most ardent pacifist would fight to defend his home, but one needs to surrender one's fear of a foreign invasion, instead of preparing for one.

Another argument often used against pacifism is that one has to choose between right and wrong, but between a lesser and a greater evil. There, again, is the tacit admission that war is evil, and that we are to overcome evil with evil instead of, as Jesus commanded, overcoming evil with good. The Italians are using this principle to defend their case, and the High Priest who condemned Jesus to death applied the same principle when he said: "It is expedient for us that one man should die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not." One other point: Is anyone in Canada making any profit out of this war? Are we exporting nickel to Ethiopia, or are we following the lead of President Roosevelt, who, at the outset of hostilities, placed an embargo on the export of arms, ammunition, etc., to "either of the belligerents?" England, at the same time, barred the export of arms to Italy and raised the ban on Ethiopia. How is this going to end the war? Experts tell us that with the rifles they are obtaining from Japan the Ethiopians can keep on an intermittent bush war for years. General Smuts tells us we are "taking a grave risk in arming the black nations."

FROM PILLAR TO POST

"You'd make a great statesman," my opponent cynically remarked to his partner. "You had all the earmarks of a man making a momentous decision—while actually making a beautiful straddle."

The criticism may have been unkind, but it certainly was justified. East's error was that of many a more experienced player—he wanted to try out every suit.

He should have recognized that this was one of the many no trump hands which contain a stopper or two in each of three suits, and the bulk of the tricks in one long suit. In the race for time which often develops in such a case, the task of the defence is to pick one of the weak spots (the weakest, if possible) and hammer out the stoppers before declarer's suit is established. # Tentative Steps Are Taken on the Road To Trade Agreement

Preliminary Work for Reciprocity Being Undertaken by Great Britain and United States—Independent Surveys Are Now Under Way

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 3. — Great Britain and the United States have undertaken preliminary work for a reciprocal trade agreement, an authoritative source disclosed tonight. The United States is one of Great Britain's best customers, while the United Kingdom is the greatest foreign customer of the U.S.A.

This move follows upon conclusion of a trade agreement between Canada and the United States. The two Governments have had no exchange of views, understanding or conversations regarding the treaty, but it was learned that independent surveys are under way in London and Washington to determine the practicability and benefits of a reciprocal agreement.

TA SPEED UP WORK

It is believed the work may be speeded up with a possibility of a conclusion next Summer.

The Ottawa Empire Agreement, which dealt a staggering blow to United States sales to Great Britain, expires in 1937. Some of Great Britain's more important trade agreements, like those with Denmark and Argentina, likewise will soon expire. Great Britain also is seeking revision of its Russian trade arrangement.

A successful agreement, observers believe, is likely to prove popular because the international situation finds the British public favoring closer Anglo-American relations.

TREMENDOUS DECREASE

The United States exports to Great Britain, which have fallen off to scarcely 15 per cent of their great post-war totals, begin with raw cotton and tobacco and include a wide variety of raw materials, machinery, semi-finished products and some metals. British exports to the United States are essentially finished manufactured goods.

Each country has a great textile industry, now in an eddying condition on either side of the Atlantic. Textiles, therefore, would probably not enter into the negotiations.

FOR BETTER BALANCE

The United States enjoys an overpoweringly favorable balance of trade against the United Kingdom. This the British would like to see brought into better balance, even though the relationships are not as loped as would first appear because of invisible items such as shipping, tourist trade and services.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Danny Meadow Mouse Is in a Tight Place

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Danny Meadow Mouse was having a good time on the bank of the Smiling Pool. He laughed at Grandfather Frog's fear that he was taking a foolish risk. It was true that he was a long way from home, with its many secret hiding places which made it comparatively safe in times of danger. But Danny wasn't worrying. As he had told Grandfather Frog, he doesn't believe in worrying until there is something to worry about.

So, this being the first time he had visited the Smiling Pool for a long time, he made the most of it. One of the first things he did was to get a good long drink. You see, there had been no rain for a long time, and Danny had had hard work to keep from being thirsty most of the time. Then he asked Grandfather Frog for all the news of the Smiling Pool—how his big cousin, Jerry Muskrat, was getting on; what Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter and Spotty and the Turtle had been doing; how large a family Mr. and Mrs. Redwing had raised, and if Battie the Kingfisher still came fishing every day in the Smiling Pool?

Grandfather Frog answered all his questions and then declared that he had talked enough for one morning. Finding that Grandfather Frog really meant what he said, Danny first hunted for something to eat, and then, finding a comfortable place on the bank of the Smiling Pool, decided to take a nap.

Now just by chance, that very morning Reddy Fox decided that he too, would visit the Smiling Pool. Reddy likes a tender young frog for a change in his bill of fare once in a while. So about the time Danny Meadow Mouse decided to take a nap Reddy Fox started toward the Smiling Pool. As he drew near it he crouched low in the grass and stole forward very carefully and stealthily, doing his best to keep as much out of sight as possible. Nearer and nearer he crept to the bank of the Smiling Pool, and it just happened that he was headed straight for the spot where Danny Meadow Mouse was napping.

Now Reddy wasn't thinking of Danny Meadow Mouse. He was thinking of young frogs. But as he drew near the bank of the Smiling Pool a careless Merry Little Breeze brought to him the scent of Danny Meadow Mouse. It tickled Reddy's nose. It made him forget young frogs. A fat meadow mouse would be much better eating than a young frog.

Reddy became more careful than ever. He crept along almost on his stomach in the direction from which the scent came. All the time Danny Meadow Mouse was having pleasant dreams in that comfortable place on the bank of the Smiling Pool, wholly unconscious that danger was anywhere near.

When word came back from Ottawa that trekkers' demands, presented there by a delegation, had been turned down, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police began patrolling the exhibition grounds in patrol cars. The trekkers were living at the stadium.

WHIZZED BY PICKETS

Pickets had been set on doors of the stadium to protect trekkers' effects and guard against fire, said Black, and police cars "whizzed by close to pickets."

"The police patrols were 'more threatening' at night. Speed of the patrol cars was sometimes between thirty-five and forty miles an hour, he estimated, and sometimes very slow. The men were warned by their leaders to avoid being run down, and a strikers' meeting discussed whether the patrol methods of the police sought 'deliberately to provoke someone.'

The strikers had patrols of their own, to regulate the marchers when going to meals, and some of the strikers were "very young and up to pranks."

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, said Black, patrolled the exhibition grounds with riot-batons, and "as far as I could see the police were taking the whole thing into their own hands." They warned drivers of cars and trucks that their vehicles would be confiscated if they helped the trekkers, Black continued.

Warned away in this manner were thirty to forty cars and ten to fifteen trucks, he stated. In cross-examination, E. C. Leslie, counsel for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Federal Government, showed that Black had

TO PREPARE EVIDENCE

Frank G. Cunningham, strikers' counsel, today asked the commissioners to consider sending a representative to Vancouver to locate witnesses and prepare evidence, to be brought before the inquiry either at Vancouver or Regina.

Chief Justice Brown, chairman of the commission, promised "full consideration" of the request but disagreed with the suggestion that the representative be Arthur Evans, preparation of witnesses and evidence at Vancouver "must be done in an impartial way," he said. It should be left to counsel for the commission.

Plan to take it easy at age 60

Here Is An Easy Plan to Follow

PROVIDE A MONTHLY INCOME

—for yourself if you live —for your dependents if you die

Work! Work! Work! Well, there is satisfaction in work, but no man wants to work all his life.

It isn't necessary. You can quit work at 55, 60 or 65 and have an assured steady income of $50, $100 or $150 a month—if you begin now to make deposits with The Imperial Life under one of our monthly insurance plans.

What amount should you deposit? That depends upon when you will want to retire, how much you want to receive each month and how old you are now.

Remember—in addition to the guaranteed monthly income for yourself when you retire, this plan provides insurance for your dependents (should you die prematurely) right from the day you make the first deposit.

Why not combine both these necessary provisions—security for yourself and protection for your family—in one Imperial Life insurance plan? Make inquiries now.

YOU'LL BE GLAD YOU FILED IN THIS FORM—MAIL IT TODAY

Interesting and Instructive Film of Motor Car Industry at Gyro Meeting

Through the medium of talking motion pictures, G. T. Eytan, Vancouver, took members of the Gyro Club at luncheon in the Empress Hotel, Monday, on an interesting and instructive tour of several of the great Ford Motor Company plants in the United States, Canada, England, France, Belgium, Holland and the Argentine.

The film contained aerial views of the manufacturing and assembly plants, interior shots of all processes necessary in changing raw materials into the finished product, and interviews with Henry Ford, Edsel Ford and several departmental heads.

Opening with the outstanding announcement which Henry Ford made early in 1933, that this year would see the company produce and market 1,000,000 automobiles, the film discloses how it was accomplished.

An insight into the various research and test laboratories was given. All scenes were accompanied by entertaining descriptions by the announcer.

Showing how practically every country contributes materials to manufacture every car, the announcer asserted: "The world goes to work when Ford goes to work."

Charles Coult was welcomed into the club by William Hudson.

Alan Gardner was again chosen first vice-president and Rev. George A. Reynolds was reappointed second vice-president.

A. G. Higgs was elected secretary to replace H. E. Hallwright. T. A. Pope was again named treasurer, while Miss M. E. Simcox was re-elected literature secretary. Mrs. M. L. Gray was reappointed librarian. Miss M. Hill was reappointed Bulletin secretary, and Mrs. H. H. Smith was returned as thank-offering box treasurer.

The entire slate of council members was returned and includes: Mrs. A. L. Wenman, Mrs. H. H. Smith, Mrs. Mary Ashmore, Mrs. D. Appleton, H. H. Smith, J. W. Chapman and H. E. Hallwright.

REPORTS PRESENTED

Reports of the various committees were presented to the meeting for adoption. All showed improvement and increased activity over the previous year.

Retiring Secretary Hallwright's report disclosed that twenty-seven new members were enrolled to bring the total membership locally to ninety-seven members. His report, which dwelt at length with internal problems, was presented to the meeting by Mr. Higgs.

Regular distribution of spiritual healing literature has been carried on during the past year, the literature secretary reported. A report showed that many books from the guild library had been used extensively in Victoria.

Rev. Dr. T. E. Rowe, warden, spoke briefly at the meeting.

TOASTMASTERS TO MEET AT Y.M.C.A.

Public Speaking Class Gives Many Toasts at Affair

Sixteen members of the Y.M.C.A. public speaking class held their first dinner meeting at the Dominion Hotel last evening. W. J. Clark was the toastmaster.

After "The King" was toasted, Waldo Skilling proposed a toast to "Canada." Other toasts were: "Our Vets," E. L. Rodson; "The Man Over Fifty," C. S. Gonnason; "My Pen," G. Gordon; "Work," E. G. Hart; "M. M.," William C. Hudson; "South Seas," J. R. Hall; "Oil," T. Rowland; "Climate of Victoria," W. R. Foster; "Science," E. Peden; "Recreation," J. H. Bailey; "To a Sense of Humor," I. McLoerie; "Roads," Frank Paulding; "British Columbia," Dr. J. S. McCallum, and "Friends," K. Easton.

MUSIC IN HOME IS ENCOURAGED

Bishop J. H. MacDonald Congratulates St. Ann's Academy on Concert

That music occupies an important place in the curriculum of St. Ann's Academy was again demonstrated last evening in the postponed St. Andrew's Day concert given by the senior and junior pupils for an audience that filled the school auditorium. The programme of instrumental and vocal numbers showed great versatility of talent, variety of subject-matter, keen school spirit, and good deportment and manners.

These points were referred to by Rt. Rev. J. H. MacDonald, Bishop of Victoria, in the congratulatory talk he gave at the close of the programme. He expressed particular pleasure at the inclusion of so many of the delightful old Scottish airs.

By this he did not intend to discourage the classical music, he said, but the classical should not be allowed to interfere with the cultivation of the "home" music, the songs of our Scottish and Irish ancestors, the singing of which should be more encouraged for the sake of the sentiment for home and family. The Sisters of St. Ann, too, were warmly complimented on the work they were doing.

THE PROGRAMME
While Scottish music dominated the programme was by no means limited to Highland melodies, and Schumann, Schubert and some of the other standard composers were introduced in the course of the evening.

Practically the entire school participated, eighty of the grade school girls and sixty of the high school taking part, either as soloists or in the choruses. The unison singing was notable for the clarity of the words, good rhythm and excellent intonation. The younger girls were heard in the opening group of choruses: "Campbells Are Comin'," "Bluebells of Scotland" and "There's Nae Luck About the Hoose"; and the seniors in "Border Ballad" and "Road to the Isles." Later, twenty-four of the resident pupils formed a chorus which sang, in two parts, "Robin Adair," and, with descant, "Leezie Lindsay."

OTHER NUMBERS

Equally well prepared, under Sister Mary Noreen and Sister Mary Good Counsel, were the various other numbers that made up the interesting programme. The pianoforte solo numbers were played by Joan Dames, E. Bendelspacher, Dagmar Brendorf, Lucille Alder, June Byron, Dorothy Anderson, Dorothy Knight, Betty Hemmingsen and Jane Holland. But the girls can play together well, too, as was shown in the piano ensemble work of the five girls who performed a "Rhapsodie," L. Thomas, E. Hickey, J. Byron, J. Holland and B. Hemmingsen, and the four younger girls who appeared earlier in the evening in the two-piano arrangement of a Schottische, P. Hyer, F. Lazzarin, E. Schuster and S. Owen. The "Lucia di Lammermoor" music was well played by the two girls who played this number, Myra Batchelor and F. Lazzarin, and E. Ganner, M. Porter, F. Thomas and M. Boothie played pianoforte duets.

Vocal numbers were contributed as follows: "Who Wouldna' Ficht for Charlie?" by R. and D. Pecteau; "Raindrops," Diana Edmunds; "Will You Come Back Again?" Elaine Basanta; "Comin' Through the Rye," Dorcas Muir; Mary of Argy; Marie Crossley.

Muriel Franklin contributed the only violin number, "Eriakay Love Lilt" and "Lennan-mo"; Mary Grant the only recitation, "Margaret of Scotland," and Flavia Lazzarin and two other girls performed a Highland fling that proved popular. The proceeds amounted to $366.

Among the special guests, other than Bishop MacDonald, were Rev. Father Gaudette and several other priests of the parish, Brigadier-General and Mrs. D. J. MacDonald, Mrs. John Hart, Alderman James Adam, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jameson.

City and District

To Pay Deficit—The city council has decided to pay its share of the $2,000 deficit of the Royal Oak Burial Park. The city's share is $1,100.

Rehearsal Tonight—A rehearsal of the Ariel Singers will be held tonight at 1116 Broad Street at 7:30 o'clock, instead of the Metropolitan Institute. A full turnout is desired.

Ward Five Liberals—Members of Ward Five Liberal Association will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the headquarters rooms on Government Street, for general business.

Conservatives Meet—The regular monthly meeting of the executive of the Victoria Conservative Association will be held at 8 o'clock this evening, at the Campbell Building. E. W. Maynard will preside.

Road Work—Requests for the surfacing of Topaz Avenue as one of the $100,000 relief projects have been referred by the city council to the executive of the public works committee for report.

Alpine Club Meeting—The annual meeting of the Alpine Club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Y.W.C.A. The speaker will be Mrs. D. Munday, who will tell of the attempt made to climb Mystery Mountain.

Lower Rental—The request of the Victoria West Brotherhood for the rental of $100 a year on the bowling green in their district be lowered to a dollar a year has been referred to the finance committee by the city council.

Members Entertained—Thirty members of Army and Navy Veterans, Victoria Unit No. 12, were recently entertained by naval petty officers at the barracks. Bridge, cribbage and billiards were played. Songs were sung by J. C. Rivers, A. Doble and B. Brown.

Two Are Sought—George Keech, believed to be in Western Canada, is sought by his sister, Mrs. Alice Eley, of Toronto. Daniel Kennedy, aged seventy years, is the object of a search by his sister in Illinois. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of these two men is asked to communicate with Victoria police.

Bond Exchanges—On the recommendation of the finance committee, the city council Monday night authorized the exchange of the following bonds: $50,000 P.G.E. 4.5 per cent bonds, due 1942, at 96.58 and accrued interest for $50,000 City of Victoria, 4.5 per cent bonds, due 1943, at 94.50 and accrued interest to yield 54 per cent.

Sunken Garden—Work on the new sunken garden on the west side of the grounds of the Legislative Buildings, between the police annex and the taxation wing, is proceeding apace. Much of the excavation has been done, while construction of exterior walls, planting and finishing of the project will be completed in the next few weeks.

Flag Ceremony—Students of Girls' Central School yesterday afternoon participated in a flag ceremony in connection with the erection of a new flagpole at the school. Considerable improvements have been carried out at these grounds, the latest being the construction of a rock garden bounding the east border of the playing field.

Christmas Week Hours—City stores will remain open until 9 p.m. on December 21, 23 and 24, the Provincial Board of Industrial Relations has advised the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. All retail establishments may remain open until 9 p.m. Wednesday, December 18, and shall remain closed on Christmas Day and Boxing Day, December 25 and 26.

Meeting Postponed—The customary Tuesday meeting of the Provincial Executive was abandoned yesterday, in the absence of acting Premier Gray and all save two members of the Cabinet. Hon. K. C. MacDonald returned during the day from the Okanagan, while Mr. Gray is expected back in the city this morning. Hon. G. S. Pearson will leave tonight for Nanaimo, en route east.

Are Apprehensive—Idaho lumber interests look with considerable apprehension on the new reciprocal trade agreement between Canada and the United States. Dr. W. J. Thompson, physician and surgeon of Pottlatch, Idaho, stated at the Dominion Hotel last night, the visitor said his state saw little that was beneficial in the agreement for Idaho.

Condition Unchanged—The condition of Victor Marconi, Saanichton, in the Victoria Hospital here with a fractured skull and fractured neck, was reported at 1 o'clock this morning as "unchanged." Mr. Marconi, who is twenty-four, was injured when he fell thirty feet down a rocky cliff while hunting with companions on Big Saanichton Mountain last Sunday afternoon.

Election Costs—Candidates who stood for office here at the last Federal election must complete their returns of campaign expenses on or before December 29, Sydney, Guild, returning officer in the Victoria area, intimated yesterday. Prof. J. King Gordon, C.C.F. nominee, filed his returns a few weeks ago. Three other candidates in the Victoria field have not yet completed the formality, Mr. Child said.

Oranges Grown Here—A half-dozen small oranges, about an inch in diameter, grown by Mrs. H. Challen, 1703 Chandler Avenue, are now on view in The Colonist window. Mrs. Challen reported the tree was well covered with the miniature oranges, raised without the aid of glass. They grow to a size larger than that of a plum. The present crop has been ripening for about a year.

Christmas Tree—Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion annual Christmas tree event will be held at the Forester's Hall, on December 20. Applications for Christmas hampers for needy members are being received by the secretary, S. W. Norman Saunders. A general meeting of members will be held in the club

Mrs. K. C. Symons presided at the monthly meeting of the Local Association Girl Guides last evening at headquarters. Miss Hilda Leighton read a report of the West Victoria district and applied for the registration of the new Roman Catholic Company at St. Ann's Academy. Mrs. L. L. Genge, district commissioner of Victoria East, read a report of her district and asked for a lieutenant's warrant for Miss N. Pite, of First Victoria Company. The resignation of Mrs. H. R. Gale as divisional commissioner of South Vancouver Island was accepted with regret and the association expressed its pleasure in welcoming Mrs. A. B. McKinnell in Mrs. Gale's place. Miss Stewart Williams will conduct training classes for guides and guiders on January 17 and 21, and those wishing to enroll were asked to do so. The classes will be held from 8 to 9:30 p.m. at headquarters, Langley Street. The next meeting of the association will be held on the first Tuesday in February.

Premier Hepburn Enjoying Improved Health Is Determined To Retire Soon

TORONTO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario came home from a health trip to the South today, determined to carry out his plan of retiring from politics after the 1936 session of the Ontario Legislature. He spent the last month in Florida and will return there after the Dominion-Provincial conference, which opens at Ottawa on December 9.

TRADE TREATIES TO BE DISCUSSED

Revision of Anglo-Canadian Agreement May Be Followed by Paris-Ottawa Debate

PARIS, Dec. 3 (CP-Havas).—Negotiations for revision of the Anglo-Canadian Ottawa trade agreement will begin in London shortly and may be followed by discussions between Paris and Ottawa for a new Franco-Canadian commercial treaty, it was learned on high authority tonight.

Negotiations for revision will be taken up in London next week by Senator Raoul Dandurand, now visiting Paris, it was said. The Canadian minister has interviewed a large number of French political leaders here. A well-informed Dominion source indicated that a new commercial treaty between France and Canada may be drawn up in the near future.

Escapes Serious Injury in Crash

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 3 (AP).—C. James Melrose, noted Australian pilot, crashed today at Bundanoon, New South Wales, and was lifted semi-conscious from his plane. He was taken to a nearby house, where doctors said his injuries were not serious.

Baby Show Feature of Winter Fair and Bazaar

Over 250 Babies Entered for Daily Colonist Show Today at Armories—Many Handsome Prizes Are Offered the Winners

The curtain rises today on the Daily Colonist Baby Show, with over 250 babies competing for the handsome prizes. Held at the Armories, The Colonist Baby Show is being conducted in conjunction with the Winter Fair and Bazaar.

Entries have been received from all over Vancouver Island, some mothers bringing their children-in from Fanny Bay, Wellington, Duncan and from Gauges Harbor.

THREE CLASSES
The babies are divided into three classes: Class "A," those up to six months of age; Class "B," those from six to twelve months; and Class "C," those from twelve to eighteen months. The judging will be taken by classes, Class "A" being on hand at 2 o'clock; Class "B" at 3 o'clock, and Class "C" at 4 o'clock.

Local business houses have co-operated with The Daily Colonist with the aim of making the baby show an outstanding success, both in the presentation of prizes and in other ways. Among them are David Spencer, Ltd., and the Hudson's Bay Company.

Sale of Work At St. Mary's Nets $362.45

As a result of the annual Christmas bazaar held yesterday afternoon by St. Mary's Ladies' Guild at the Memorial Hall, Yale Street, the sum of $362.45 was cleared. The bazaar was opened by Mrs. A. E. del. Nunn, who wished the members of the guild great success and thanked them for the splendid work done in the past.

Mrs. H. A. Yodall, the president and general convener, welcomed the large number of visitors who attended the bazaar. The stalls were attractively decorated with evergreens and colored lights, and the stage was decorated with festoons of holly and greenery. Here table tennis was in progress, under the direction of Mrs. F. G. Berton.

STALL HOLDERS

An attractive table of linen was under the direction of Mrs. C. T. Teasdale, Mrs. H. P. Sharples, Mrs. MacFarland and Mrs. Colman. Miss Marian Pitts had a table of novelties, which proved a great attraction; Mrs. W. J. Goepel, Mrs. E. David and Mrs. F. E. Blowers had charge of the fancywork stall; Mrs. Thornton Marshall, Mrs. R. Hughes, Mrs. R. Pugh, Mrs. E. Montzambert and Mrs. Thomas Cooper had charge of the well-stocked home-cooking table; Christmas gifts were sold by Mrs. E. Parquhar, Mrs. W. C. Ard and Mrs. H. H. Cullis; aprons were sold by Mrs. T. Stacey and Miss E. M. King; candy, in gay boxes, was sold by Mrs. F. W. Heseltine and Miss Smyly, and house-house was directed by Mrs. C. F. Eagles and Mrs. T. P. Waters; at the fish pond were Mrs. A. W. Clarke and Mrs. F. P. Forbes.

Miss A. B. Cooke read tea cups and Del Carmen was in charge of the demand as a crystal gazer. A stall of charming woolies was in charge of Mrs. W. Barrowclough, Miss Ramsdale and Mrs. C. A. Carter.

PRIZE WINNERS

The cake, donated by Mrs. Thornton Marshall, was in charge of Mrs. G. P. Player, and was won by Mrs. C. T. Teasdale and Mrs. H. V. Mills, both of whom guessed the correct weight, four pounds one ounce. The little house, made entirely of handkerchiefs, the gift of Miss Owen, of Kelowna, was won by Mrs. Barber-Starkie, Mrs. W. P. Pease won the bead bag.

Under the able leadership of Mrs. F. E. L. Philp and Mrs. Herbert Ancomb, tea was served at prettily decorated tables. Mrs. A. A. Bengough being in charge of the tea tickets. Assisting on the tea committee were Mrs. H. V. Mills, Mrs. Scott Ritchie, Mrs. H. B. French, Mrs. P. A. Pearce, Mrs. E. C. Stewart, Mrs. A. Ham and Miss Daphne Nunn.

FAIRFIELD
The Fairfield "Go-Getters" Y.P.S. met on Monday evening. Instead of a regular meeting, the group visited Rennie & Taylor's bakery where an interesting evening was spent, through the kindness of the firm. The next meeting will be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all young people.

Anglican Young People
The usual meeting of the Salt Spring A.Y.P.A. was held in the Mahon Hall, Ganges, in the form of a birthday party. It was held in honor of the vice-president, Miss Phyllis Beech, who was celebrating her twenty-first birthday. Mrs. Douglas Hamilton had made the birthday cake, on which she inscribed good wishes. The cake was decorated most attractively with a centrepiece of two doves. Twenty-one pale green candles were set in small pink and yellow rosebuds. Supper was served by Group "C," under the leadership of Sam Beddis. The evening was given up to old-time and modern dancing.

Children at Orphanage Entertained

The following members of the ladies' committee of the Protestant Orphan's Home met Monday: Mesdames O. M. Brown, McKeown, Luney, Elliott, Walker, Coutts, Butler, Grunston, Humphries, Dorman, Cox, E. N. Brown, Dinsmore, Hughes, Dillabough, Calvert and Simpson. Mrs. F. V. Longstaff, the president, was in the chair.

It was decided to hold the Christmas concert on the evenings of December 26 and 27. The children are all well and the home running smoothly. They were entertained last month by the following: A. E. Alexander, B. C. Federation of Music Teachers, Mrs. O. M. Brown and Mrs. Coutts. The Hudson's Bay Company gave tickets for the Santa Claus show at the Capitol Theatre. The Victoria Tourist Association brought ponies for the children to ride, which they thoroughly enjoyed. Mrs. R. T. Elliott and Mrs. P. C. Dillabough will visit the home for December.

The following donations were gratefully received: Mr. J. T. Muirhead, venison; J. E. Day, half a pair of candy; Fernwood Meat Market, soup, bones and vegetables; H. Dugan, two boxes of apples; a friend, pumpkin and apples; Mr. Stuart, fifty loaves of bread; James Maynard, Ltd., fourteen pairs of slippers; Mrs. Frances Norton, cash; Britannia Lodge No. 73, cakes, pickles and apples; A. E. Alexander, ice cream and popcorn; Hard-of-Hearing Club, cake and sandwiches; Mrs. T. B. Brown, one and a half gallons of ice cream; Northwestern Creamery, ice cream cones; Mrs. O. M. Brown, cakes and cookies; Mrs. M. R. Coutts, cakes and cookies; Mrs. Washford, buns; Crystal Springs, two cases of pop; Northwestern Creamery, one and a half gallons of ice cream; Batchelor Grocery, five pounds of candy; Mrs. Lang, cash; Dr. F. M. Bryant and Dr. W. J. Gibson, professional services; Colonist and Times, daily papers.

Social and Personal Notes

Is Tea Hostess

Mrs. R. W. Mayhew yesterday afternoon entertained past and present executives of the Women's Canadian Club and a few other friends at a charmingly arranged tea at her home, 2551 Beach Drive. Wearing a graceful robe of Burgundy-colored velvet and a corsage bouquet of roses, Mrs. Mayhew received her guests in the drawing-room, where a magnificent display of potted white and yellow chrysanthemums was the decorative feature. In the dining-room, presiding in turn at a table on which a seasonal motif was attractively carried out with red candles in silver candelabra and red carnations and silver leaves and grapes arranged over mirrors, were Mrs. S. J. Willis, Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, Miss Agnew, Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, Mrs. W. G. Wilson and Mrs. J. H. CHAPTER XXI

When Carol raised her eyes to find Owen Craig towering above her, his dark face lit with a smile, the world stopped still and in its silence she could hear her own heart pounding.

"Of course, you may have it," she said. "Please come in. There's lots of tea and lots of ice and lots of love." To herself she said: "Stop talking like a goose. Pretend this is Gary. You can always talk to him easily."

When Owen came in and saw the play script perched upon the mantel he said: "Look here, it hadn't occurred to me that you might be busy. I'll run along."

"I'm not. I have nothing else"—there was a pause—"to do."

His face still held an expression of concern. She smiled at him with her eyes. "It's much too late for tea but if you'll stay for supper, I'd like to have you. That is . . . if you're not busy."

"I say, that will be fun," he said eagerly. "It's been lonesome since Kathy left, but why don't I take you to dinner if you're sure you're not busy?"

"Because I think it would be more fun to stay here and there's plenty of food. I'll have it ready in no time. You'll find the river interesting and I think this unexpected coyness warrants a little heart fire. If you like one, do you think you could manage it while I do things with food?"

"Can I?" he answered boyishly. "Why, for years, my family thought I was going to grow up to be a fireman before I took my doctoring. I'll have the whole place in a blaze in a jiffy."

"I hope the food won't do that," she answered laughing. "And when your fire is going, could you find plates and linen in the corner cabinet? Silver in the top drawer; and everything we'll need for a cocktail right on the third shelf. I'll be out here. I think by that time I'll have our supper well tamed."

For a little while there was no words between them but the silence was intimate rather than strained. The savory smells of cooking mingled faintly with the scent of wood. Night dropped her curtain down and twilight filtered in the east window, laying soft veils on the cozy, home-like room. A pervading peace stole on Owen Craig and he was filled with a sense of quiet and contentment.

And when their supper was finished and Carol had come back to sit before the fire, they talked again. They talked of books they both loved and music they had heard.

"Mind if I smoke?" Owen had taken a pipe from his pocket.

"Not a bit." Raising her slim figure to her knees, Carol struck a match and held it to his pipe. The firelight played on the lights of her hair and brought out the intoxicating soft perfume of it. Unguarded, Owen's appreciation flashed into his eyes as they met hers over the match. The match burned out and Carol turned away to look into the less dangerous flames in the hearth.

"This is by far the most satisfying one I've spent in a long time."

"I feel that way too," she said quietly.

It was the low, insidious wail of a river boat whistle—that sound that brings—nostalgia—for places they have never seen to those who love its beckoning call—that gave words to the silence following.

"I love that sound," Carol said. "I have been many places and forgotten most of them because there was nothing to remember but sights and sounds and smells. Yet since I've been living here and heard those boats going out to distant places, I've felt a vast loneliness for some place I do not know. Some day I shall find it."

"I know what you mean. You may have to travel far to find it, little Carol, and when you do you'll find it is no further than your own heart."

"Oh, there must be something else," she said, speaking a thought aloud: "A thought that Owen understood."

"Yes, there is work to keep you from nostalgia."

"My work?" Carol drew her hand across her brow. "If any work would do that, surely mine should. Yet it doesn't. I keep telling myself how lucky I am to have had a chance like that but somehow . . . well, I just don't seem to adjust myself somehow. I'm not a good actress. I have no spark and it doesn't mean anything to me. Perhaps it will come. I'm reading a play now."

"Then you are going back this season?"

"I suppose so," she said dully. "At least it fills my time and fills me from thinking of myself. And in its way, I think it must be useful work. People have to be amused."

"There are a great many other things that people need. Things that you have to give them."

"That I have to give them?" Carol asked surprised.

"Yes. There is a quietude about you. You have a depth of understanding and sympathy. A great many people need that. I see it every day in my work."

"Perhaps. You might make an excellent nurse. Do you think you would like to go into training?"

"No-o-o. You see I had so many years with mother. I do want to do useful work but I don't want to spend four years in a hospital. I want to work but I want to be free too. Do you see?"

"Yes. Owen would say that: he would understand her."

"This is vacation time and if you would like to try some other kind of work, I might be able to get you something in a doctor's office. Do you think you would like that?"

"I should like that very much indeed, but you are so kind."

"Not at all. I'll be glad to see what's going on. You see, I understand what you feel. The need of work in some of us is as natural as breathing, just as the nostalgia we spoke of a little while ago is a vital part of us."

"But, of course, you have Kathy. Carol hadn't meant to say that."

"Yes, I have Kathy," Owen said in a lower tone.

"Kathy is so vivacious. All my life I've wanted to be like her," Carol rattled on with false brightness. "She was the prettiest little girl. And now she is so . . . so chic. She makes a room come alive when she steps into it. You know what I mean?"

"I do indeed. And you do something to a room when you come into it." Owen had forgotten that this was the first time he had ever seen his fiancée's cousin alone.

"She was here to visit me before she left," Carol said hurriedly. "She says you are planning on a December wedding. I can see her now, as lovely as she will be in her wedding gown. Kathy will make a beautiful bride."

"Yes, she will." He had risen. "It's getting late. It's almost midnight and I've kept you up much too late. Thank you, Carol, thank you for a most happy evening."

She wanted to ask him to come again but something in her kept her from uttering it and he did not ask for an invitation.

When he had gone, the room was filled with him, with the smoke from his pipe which hung in the air, with the impression in the chintz chair where he had been sitting and with the echo of his words.

Deliberately, Carol emptied the ash trays, flung wide the windows, shook the chair cushions and fastened her thoughts on a book she had been reading but his face came before her and the printed page and she turned out the light to shut it out.

The next morning he telephoned her.

DISCHARGED
CARGO HEREPacific President In From Europe—Aorangi Sailing
South Today

From United Kingdom ports, by way of Panama and California, the Furness Line M.S. Pacific President, Captain George Newman, arrived alongside Rithet Pier at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning, with passengers and cargo aboard.

Among the travelers on the President were Mrs. Florence Normington, returning to her home in Vancouver, after a visit to England; Mrs. Mary Paoletti, from England for Princeton; Mr. and Mrs. Clay Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Russell and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hill, all of Portland, Oregon, making a holiday trip, and Thomas Davies, of Ocean Park, California, who is also making a pleasure trip.

The Pacific President discharged slightly under one hundred tons of general cargo on the local dock and picked up some local cargo for the homeward-bound passage. The combined freight and passenger ship left for Mainland ports shortly before the noon hour.

On her way to Australia by way of Hawaii, Fiji and New Zealand, the Canadian-Australasian M.S. Aorangi, Captain J. F. Spring-Brown, commander, is due to arrive here this afternoon to embark passengers and take on mails and cargo for South Sea destinations. The liner is coming in from Vancouver.

NOTICE TO CONSIGNEES
This is to advise that the M.S. Pacific President has arrived at Customs and cargo discharged. Please pass Customs entries forthwith and take delivery of goods from Rithet's Pier No. 1.

Discovery II Ordered to Search for Explorers

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The Royal Research Society ship Discovery II has been ordered to participate in the search for Lincoln Ellsworth and Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, explorers missing on a flight to the Antarctic, it was officially announced today.

Orders were wireless to the Discovery II, "Alter course and proceed with all possible dispatch to a convenient Australian port, from which the search for Ellsworth and his Canadian pilot can be undertaken."

BEING OVERHAULED

The tanker Albertolite, which carries oil from Port San Luis to Iloilo, is at present in the hands of Yarrows, Limited, Esquimalt. The Albertolite was drydocked and is now having some internal work done alongside the company's wharf.

Arriving at William Head Sunday morning flying the yellow flag, the freighter St. Prince Rupert City reported the death at sea of an English apprentice named Johnstone, from smallpox, and that a deckboy was down with the disease. The apprentice had been buried at sea. The deckboy was removed to the isolation hospital and the balance of the crew subjected to medical inspection, while the ship was fumigated and held forty-eight hours for observation. The lad who died at sea and the boy who is now held at William Head were the only members of the Rupert City's crew who were not vaccinated.

CONTROVERSY
INTENSIFIEDStatement by U.S. Lines
Creates Some Opposition
In Conference

The controversy as to the limits within which ocean-going vessels are to be classed as "cabin liners" is likely to be intensified by the announcement of the United States lines that it will shortly construct a third cabin liner for trans-Atlantic service with a gross register of 45,000 tons, says the New York Journal of Commerce.

Other members of the North Atlantic Conference have advanced the contention that when large vessels are classed as cabin liners, and charge a correspondingly low schedule of fares, passengers are diverted from the regular vessels in this service.

OBJECTION RAISED
When the United States lines classified the Manhattan and the Washington as cabin vessels despite their 24,000 ton register, a good deal of objection was raised for this reason. The Champlain and the Britannic, it is true, larger than the American ships, did not arouse so much opposition to their classification.

Now the Cunard-White-Star Line threatens to classify the Queen Mary, the largest vessel in the world, as a cabin liner while the United States Line proposes the new large vessel for its own fleet. While the American line is to be commended, however, for its enterprise in building a new ship to meet modern demands for trans-Atlantic passenger transportation, if it should disrupt rates and bring about a dissolution of the conference, the results might prove unfortunate, the journal points out.

RATE CUTTING
"We may see a return to the type of exaggerated rate cutting that marked the days of the heavy east-bound immigrant movement before the war. Most vessels in the Atlantic service depend chiefly upon the higher classes of traffic for their earnings. A race for cabin class business which will undermine rates for such travel may have very serious economic results for the shipping business," says The Journal.

Week-End Bargain
Fares Creating
Lot of Interest

Considerable interest is being taken in the bargain fare offering of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway Company this coming week-end, and if the weather is at all kind, the trains leaving for Up-Island points on Friday and Saturday will be well filled with residents of Victoria off to visit friends "up the line," or just traveling for curiosity to see what places along the track look like at this time of the year.

Taking advantage of the low rates, it is equally certain that a good many Up-Islanders will come into Victoria for the five-day travel opportunity, tickets being good for going on either Friday or Saturday, with a return limit up to and including Tuesday, December 10.

Dissolving Long Partnership at Sydney

The well-known partnership existing between Captain J. F. Spring-Brown and the big Canadian-Australasian liner Aorangi, which the genial skipper has commanded for more than ten years, will be dissolved when the orange and green motorship reaches Sydney at the end of her present voyage. Captain Spring-Brown has reached the retirement age. A real veteran of the sea, Captain Spring-Brown, shown above with Aorangi, got his ticket in sail, made a number of voyages in wind-ships, and has been in command of various Union-Steamship Company of New Zealand vessels, and Canadian-Australasian liners for the past twenty-six years. He is commadore-captain of the Union fleet, and an officer greatly liked and respected by his crew as well as the traveling public. Officers and men of the Aorangi are planning several presentations for the veteran commander on the ship's arrival in Sydney, where Captain Spring-Brown will bid farewell to his shipmates.

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (AP).—Stew Adams, manager of Calgary Tigers of the Northwestern Hockey League, expressed surprise tonight when informed of the suspension of Tony Hemmerling, acquired by the Prairie Club last week from Seattle Sea Hawks, and later sold to New York Americans of the National Hockey League.

"It's the first I've heard of it," Adams said, "but if it's true I'll fight the suspension if I have to carry it to President William Calder, of the National League."

NO SERVICE
LAST NIGHTDeadline Set for 5 P.M.
Yesterday Postponed for Twenty-Four Hours

SEATTLE, Dec. 3 (AP).—Labor leaders and unions not involved directly in the Puget Sound ferry strike entered the controversy at the "eleventh hour" today and shipowners postponed for twenty-four hours their deadline, set for 5 p.m. today, for strikers to return to work.

"We have been requested by other labor unions than those on strike," said Capt. F. E. Lovejoy, president of the shipowners, "to postpone the time set for resumption of service under police protection."

"They have hopes they can assist in working out a settlement."

"This has been done. Service will not be restored tonight 'with or without' union crews, unless new negotiations fail."

WILL BE OPEN
The new negotiations were on the programme of a conference called at the office of John H. Connors, State labor commissioner, after Governor Martin appealed last night to both sides for "immediate resumption" of service. Connors said the conference's subject matter will be "absolutely open."

Captain Lovejoy attributed the intervention of labor leaders outside the striking unions to a belief that "organized labor does not want to see a small group kick over an arbitration award."

Operators prepared to suggest that the strike issue be submitted to an impartial group, as Governor Martin advised, and that unions return to work pending review of the issues and a new arbitration award.

JOAN CRAWFORD IS CAPITOL STAR

Has Leading Role in "I Live My Life"—Brian Aherne Plays Novel Part.

Joan Crawford brings a new kind of picture as well as a new leading man to the Capitol Theatre this week with her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "I Live My Life."

The story is novel, dramatic and at times uproariously funny. The leading man is Brian Aherne, the distinguished English actor, who with this picture comes into his own as a leading man to be reckoned with.

Aherne is an archaeologist in "I Live My Life," as hard-boiled and city-hating as they come. When first he sees the beautiful girl from the yacht in the quiet bay of the Greek island where he has been digging, he's uninterested.

She's obviously rich, and rich girls, to him, are parasites. When she tells him, however, that she is the owner's secretary, love comes in a rush. Thus begins a romance that rises to all-absorbing proportions.

When, however, the archaeologist follows the girl to New York, discovers that she is in reality the rich man's spoiled daughter, trouble—and laughter—begin.

She's obviously rich, and rich girls, to him, are parasites. When she tells him, however, that she is the owner's secretary, love comes in a rush. Thus begins a romance that rises to all-absorbing proportions.

Will Rogers will be shown in his brilliant comedy success with Irvin Cobb, "Steamboat 'Round the Bend." In addition, a Mickey Mouse comedy entitled "Mickey's Nightmare" and a Popeye cartoon, "We Aim to Please" will round out the programme.

NOTED SOLOISTS SING HERE SOON

Mark Daniels, Portland, to Portray Prophet in Oratorio on December 10 at First United

MARK DANIELS

Victorians will have the pleasure of hearing some very noted soloists at the performance of Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah," to be given in the First United Church on December 10.

The part of the prophet will be taken by Mark Daniels, stated to be one of the outstanding oratorio singers on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Daniels resides in Portland, and has had repeated engagements in New York, Chicago and other important cities. Mrs. Florence Beeler, of Seattle, will be the contralto and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, of this city, the soprano. Leonard Hayman, of Vancouver, will sing tenor solo.

F. J. Chubb, Mus.Bac., F.R.C.O. of Vancouver, has been engaged as organist.

This chorus, which consists of members of the Orpheus and First United Church Choirs, will be conducted by W. C. Fyfe. Doors will be open at 7:15 p.m. and the performance will commence at 8 p.m.

COLUMBIA Edward G. Robinson, THEATRE said to be the greatest character actor on the screen today, is starred in "The Whole Town's Talking," the Columbia production which closes today at the Columbia Theatre. Jean Arthur, Columbia contract player, is featured opposite Robinson.

PLAYHOUSE In one of the romantic scenes of Paramount's "Shanghai," now at the Playhouse Theatre, you will see an accurate reproduction of an ancient Manchurian palace. The original of the palace is located on the Yangtze River in Central China. Directed by James Flood, the picture stars Loretta Young and Charles Boyer.

DOMINION May Robson, the THEATRE "Grand old lady" of the screen, is now a great-grandmother, her grandson

"CHOCOLATE SOLDIER" BOX OFFICE NOW OPEN

The box office for the sale of tickets for "The Chocolate Soldier," which will be presented at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, by the Victoria Opera Society, is now open at the theatre. All those who purchased tickets from members of the society are advised to turn their tickets into the box office and have them exchanged for reserved seats as soon as possible.

With the music by Oscar Straus and the libretto by Rudolph Bernauer and Leopold Jacobsen, and the plot from George Bernard Shaw's famed satirical comedy, "Arms and the Man," this light opera is one of the favorites of all time.

Members of the society have made such a success of other operas that there can be no doubt regarding "The Chocolate Soldier." It has everything to make it a success. There is comedy as well as fine musical numbers, and the costumes are colorful and bright. There are dances, too, and a miniature ballet. Dances always help to make a stage production enjoyable.

VANCOUVER LADY SUFFERED EIGHT YEARS WITH RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

Dear Sir:—Eight years ago I contracted Rheumatoid Arthritis and was almost a helpless cripple. My joints all became inflamed and out of shape and the suffering was terrible. My teeth and tonsils were taken out and I took all kinds of treatments and surgery but without any relief whatever. I had about given up hope when I heard about what Harris' Wondra was doing for Rheumatoid Arthritis in Vancouver, so I decided to give it a fair trial. I felt a great change coming over me before I had finished the first four bottles. My blood circulation improved. I became much stronger, could walk without a stick and felt better in every way. I continued it for a year and am delighted to say that I am now able to do all my housework, go shopping and visiting, eat and sleep fine. I think it is admirable what Harris' Wondra has done for such a serious case as mine and I feel it is my duty to let all sufferers of Rheumatoid Arthritis know of my case—Yours gratefully,

MRS. MARGUERITA LA BELL
2103 E. 34th Ave., Vancouver, B.C.

Thousands of people are practically helpless with arthritis because they neglected to treat their rheumatic symptoms in the early stages by taking a successful remedy like Harris' Wondra. Persevering with treatment with Harris' Wondra overcomes the cause of the disorders, greatly improves the quality and circulation of the blood, imparts health, strength and vigor to the entire system and supplies the body with mineral elements and vitamins so essential to good health. The actual gratifying results derived by thousands of citizens who have taken Harris' Wondra for rheumatism, rheumatoid arthritis, neuritis, sciatica, lumbago, etc., is positive proof that this medicine is an effective treatment for such ailments.

The reduced price of Harris' Wondra is $2.50 per bottle (contains 8 fluid ounces) or three bottles for $6.00. Harris' Wondra can also be obtained in capsule form—reduced price $8.50 per box straight. One separate bottle of Harris' Laxative, a medicine for constipation, is included free with every bottle or box of Harris' Wondra. Sent by mail postpaid from Calgary to country points.

flies through the air with the greatest of ease

... a dangerous and difficult feat; one calling for speed, daring, clear vision and sureness of a very exceptional order. Day after day he brings a new thrill to thousands of eager onlookers—people of all ages, sex and variety.

Possibly our comparison may seem a little far-fetched but where could be found a more appropriate analogy for the daily newspaper? Difficult obstacles must be and are overcome daily.

SPEED? ... Where else could you find another medium so gripping, so intense, so alive, that is published almost hourly? Where else is daring so ably exemplified as here where statements are published, upon which the continued existence of the paper itself depends?

... THE thoughts and ambitions of our people rely greatly upon the clear vision, foresight and keen judgment of men who formulate the policies of newspapers. In no other medium is the same inherent surety—giving to its advertisers and readers alike that spirit of confidence which marks the most powerful and influential advertising medium of modern life—THE DAILY NEWSPAPER.

City Water Main Will Be Bonded

On the recommendation of the water board, the city council Monday night granted permission to the B.C. Electric Railway Company, Ltd., to bond the city's twenty-inch water main on Blanshard Street to the gas main, which in turn already is bonded to the street car tracks.

The transit company hopes by this means to avoid electrolysis.

The city council also desired to instruct the transit company that it would be held responsible for all damages caused so far by electrolysis, and any damages that may be caused by the same means in the future.

MAROONS AND BLACK HAWKS CAPTURE FIXTURES

Selection of Port Arthur Squad for Olympiad Is Final

Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Will Not Reopen Question of Play-Off Against Montreal Royals as Requested by Quebec Branch—Vote for Bear Cats Is Unanimous

MONTREAL, Dec. 3.—Secretary Alphonse Thériault, of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, today released a flock of telegrams from hockey leaders all over the country, the general tenor of which indicated the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association was endorsed in its choice of Port Arthur Bear Cats as Canada's Olympic representatives.

The C.A.H.A. had wired all branches of the C.A.H.A. urging a play-off between Montreal Royals, Eastern Canada finalists, and Bear Cats, Western Canada champions, for the right to go to Germany in place of Halifax Wolverines, now disbanded.

President Gilroy, of the C.A.H.A., wired that he was "compelled to refuse reopening of the question," as the committee which made the decision was unanimous. The decision, he said, was approved by Vice-President Hardy, British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan branches. The only ones to dissent later were Past President F. C. Greenleaf, of Montreal, and the Quebec branch. Ottawa had not been heard from.

B.C. APPROVES

From Amherst, N.S., J. E. Wry replied that he was "very sympathetic with Quebec branch, but cannot see your argument as outlined in wire."

He had every confidence that the C.A.H.A. executive would not jeopardize Canada's Olympic chances. British Columbia had approved the invitation to Port Arthur and "this decision stands," A. W. MacDonald wired from Trail.

Calgary, Edmonton, Fort William and Winnipeg endorsed the C.A.H.A. with Edmonton suggesting that serious consideration be given to Royals as strengthening material for the team.

From Dunnville, W. A. Fry, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, expressed the "personal view" that Port Arthur, the runner-up team, properly strengthened, is the logical choice to represent Canada.

Flying Colts of Tommy Gorman's Troupe

Here's a speedy trio of youngsters that work into the attack division of the Marmuring Maroons, the big, powerful squad that Tommy Gorman directs. No. 1, Russell Blinco, was a scoring sensation last season, and Herb Cain (2) brought fame to Newmarket and fortune to himself by scintillating performances. Gus Maker (3) to date is the top scorer of the world's champions. Mixed in with these frontal attackers for the Montrealers are cagey puck hounds like Robinson, Northcott, who

MONTREAL RALLIES TO TAKE DECISION AGAINST CANADIENS

Stanley Cup Champions Come From Behind to Nose Out Intra-City Rivals in Thrill-Packed Game, by 3-2 — Chicago Widens Lead in American Section by Beating Bruins

MONTREAL, Dec. 3.—Montreal Maroons evened their season's series with Canadiens tonight when they won a thrilling, packed National Hockey League game, 3-2, but the Stanley Cup holders had to come from behind in the third period to win after each had scored in the first and second periods. Canadiens went into the lead in the first period when George Mantha caught the defence napping on a high lob from centre ice that hit the screen behind the net. Before the defence could clear, Armand Mondou and Goldsworthy sped in. Mondou got the rubber and Goldsworthy was in front of the goal to score easily from Mondou's pass.

Maroons tied it up in the second period while Goldsworthy was off. Big Lionel Conacher, who was attacking more than usual, was on the scoring end of a play with Hooley Smith and Baldy Northcott in a gang attack.

A penalty to Dave Trotter paved the way for Canadiens to take the lead in the third period when Paul Haynes shot home a goal in a gang attack.

A little more than two minutes later Baldy Northcott tied it up when he poked in a rebound from a hard drive by Hooley Smith, and Earl Robinson shot home the game-winning goal late in the period when he stole the puck at centre ice and sped in, unmolested, to score from close in. He had just jumped on the ice for Stew Evans as he finished serving a penalty.

With a minute left in the middle frame two Bruins were sent off with Don MacPadden, who received a major penalty for slashing Babe Siebert across the face. While the teams played short-handed, Howie Morenz passed back to Mush March and the right winger golfed a long shot into the Boston net for the third goal.

HAWKS WIDEN LEAD
BOSTON, Dec. 3 (P).—Chicago Black Hawks lengthened their American Division lead in the National Hockey League by coming from behind tonight to out-slate Boston Bruins for a 3-1 victory before 12,000 fans.

Among the crowd were Lester Patrick and his New York Rangers, who are trailing Clem Loughlin's speedsters by three points. The Rangers were driven out of New York by the six-day bike race and have been practising here.

The Bruins got off to a flying start and registered their only tally during the fourth minute of play, Max Kaminsky passing to Charlie Sands, who fired a high angle shot over Goale Mike Karakas' left shoulder.

The Hawks needed only twenty seconds to register the tying goal. "Doc" Romnes converted Paul Thompson's assist for the score. The same combination accounted for the second Chicago tally in the second period.

Fifteen Announced for Match With New Zealand Next Saturday

DUBLIN, Dec. 3.—Enthusiasm by the fine showing of the Ulster team against the touring New Zealanders last Saturday, followers of the rugby code in Ireland are optimistic over the chances of the team chosen to represent the country in the international match to be played here December 7.

The All Blacks were successful in the first international match of the tour against Scotland a little more than a week ago, winning 18-8. The Scots put up a great battle and the struggle was closer than the score indicated.

When Ulster and New Zealand met last Saturday the All Blacks were held to a 3-3 draw, the first in their record in Old Country play. Previous to the present visit the All Blacks toured the British Isles in 1908 and 1924. Including the tilt with Scotland they have played twenty-two matches this season, winning twenty. One game was lost.

TEAM SELECTED
The team chosen to represent Ireland next Saturday follows:
Morris (Bective Rangers), O'Connor (University College, Cork), Malcolmson (North of Ireland), Bailey (University College, Dublin), Boyle (Dublin University), Hewitt (Listonians), Morgan (Clontarf), Beamish (Royal Air Force), Deering (Bective Rangers), Rynn (North of Ireland), Graves (Wanderers), McGross (Listonians), Higgins (Collegeians), Walker (Listonians), Wallis (Wanderers).

JUVENILE BODY RETURNS PYNN

Named President for Another Term—Plans Drafted for Roller Hockey League

W. J. "Bill" Pynn, well-known figure in local sport circles, was yesterday evening re-elected president of the Royal Juvenile Athletic Association at the annual meeting held in The Colonist board room. Pynn has been at the head of the association since its inception a few years ago, and was the unanimous choice of the delegates attending the meeting.

Three branches of sport, roller hockey, basketball and baseball, are handled by the association, which has more than 300 boys enrolled as active members.

Tentative plans for the opening of the Roller Hockey League on Saturday, January 4, were made. Entries for the two sections, under sixteen and under eighteen, will close on Tuesday, December 17, when the league will meet in The Colonist board room at 7:30 o'clock. The complete slate of officers follows: Honorary presidents, Alder-

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

By Ripley

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
"The Man of God"—For forty-four years, travelers between Wichita and El Dorado, Kansas, have been attracted to the statue-like figure of William at the side of the roadway. His pose still and impressive, and with flowing white hair and beard, the highway patriarch is known as William, the Man of God, and by no other name. As far as is known, he has no relatives, but his many friends of the highway keep him in food and clothing and other necessities of life. William's motto is: "God will take care of me," and he is perfectly satisfied with life.

RANKING PLAYERS DOMINATE CITY SHUTTLE MEET

Doubles Fixture Holds Spotlight At Willows Club

Mildred Philipsen and Don Davis Take Extra-Set Match From Mary Campbell and Pat Colclough As Play Continues in City Badminton—Heavy Schedule Set for Tonight

Ranking shuttlers dominated the play yesterday evening in the city badminton championships being played on the courts of the Willows Club, Main Building, Willows Exhibition Grounds. Twenty matches were completed yesterday evening as the pick of city and suburban netters continued their campaigns in quest of the many titles at stake.

The meet is attracting considerable interest and a good gallery was on hand to witness the matches. Play will continue tonight with another heavy schedule of fixtures prepared by tournament officials. Play will commence at 7:30 o'clock, and with all courts at their disposal this evening officials of the meet have requested that all players still remaining in the tournament make a special effort to be on hand, as matches not already scheduled may possibly be played.

GOOD MATCH

There were a number of interesting fixtures yesterday evening, but the highlight of the play was the mixed doubles match, in which Mildred Philipsen and Don Davis defeated Miss Mary Campbell and Pat Colclough after a great three-set battle that lasted exactly forty-five minutes. The scores were 15-11, 15-11, 15-4.

After battling point for point in the initial set, the teams reached 13-13, and then Miss Mary Campbell and Pat Colclough stroked their way to an 18-15 victory. Miss M. Philipsen and Don Davis rallied in the next set and won by the score of 15-11, and then ended the interesting battle in the next set with the score of 15-4.

Miss Joyce Thomson, sixteen-year-old Brentwood player, turned in a fine exhibition in her straight set victory over Miss E. Ruggles, 15-11, and then Miss Mary Campbell and Pat Colclough stroked their way to an 18-15 victory. Miss M. Philipsen and Don Davis rallied in the next set and won by the score of 15-11, and then ended the interesting battle in the next set with the score of 15-4.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

Again the soccerites will do battle. With the North Ward team enjoying a holiday through the withdrawal of Cedar Hill, the Victoria West boys will go after their game with a view of gaining the king position of the league. The Foresters, on the other hand, will have their strongest in line and have the choice of the card today is undoubtedly this match, which will take place at North Ward Park instead of Oak Bay, as hitherto stated.

The North Ward Second Division team will play Esquimalt at the North Ward Park, and this unbeaten aggregation expects to continue the good work.

The team that will represent the Baraca Club today, in their match with the Fifth Regiment, will be as follows: T. Cooper, Al Middleton, C. Bishop, P. Pomfret, H. Hibbit, H. Heath, A. Middleton, G. Sherrill, G. Bishop, F. Middleton, J. Miller, Spore, L. Beckwith.

Esquimalt will take the field as follows: E. Bolton, S. Stewart, R. Stewart, Griffith, Dea, Dolg, C. Woodley, Thomas, A. Williams (captain), E. Young and Bridgen.

By scores of 20-16 and 22-11, the Vancouver High School basketball representatives, both senior and junior, respectively, met defeat last night at the hands of local gun-tettes. Each contest was full of interest, and although Vancouver displayed an excellent combination in both matches, their inability to shoot was against them, while the locals' shooting could not have been better.

Victoria Chalks Up Two Victories

Playing on their home courts, Victoria Club shuttlers defeated Hillcrest, 13-3, in a Lower Vancouver Island Badminton League, fifth division fixture. The winners made a clean sweep in the women's doubles, won three of the men's doubles and six of the eight mixed doubles.

In a third division league match on its home courts, Victoria Club blanked visiting Civil Service netters, 16-0.

SPENCERS TO BATTLE BAYS IN FEATURE

Soccer Leaders Meet Today At Athletic Park—Wanderers Play Sailors

With the Hayward Cup securely tucked away, Coach Eddie Rutledge's well-balanced Hudson's Bay soccer eleven will battle Spencers, second-berth occupants and last season's champions, in the feature match on today's Wednesday Football League programme. The fixture is scheduled at the Royal Athletic Park with Dave McMillan tooling the whole lot.

The only other game carded will bring together the Navy and James Bay Wanderers at the Navy Recreation Ground, Admirals Road. Joe Obee will handle the whistle.

Determined to break the winning streak of the green and gold-sweated Hudson's Bay aggregation, Spencers will trot out their strongest available line-up for their first game in the Hayward Cup series. The Bays came through with an impressive victory, and as today's match will be the last in the series, the Diamond "S" boys will be out for revenge.

James Bay Wanderers and the Navy will be battling for third berth and a good fixture should be witnessed.

Kick-offs are set for 2:30 o'clock.

FLIGHT.

by W. D. TIPTON
and J. H. MASON

NO one can win the Victoria Cross, Great Britain's No. 1 decoration for valor, but a subject of the British Empire, and this is the only reason that Alan Bonnallie wears the Distinguished Service Order, the No. 2 British decoration, instead. Officially he was 1st Lt. Alan F. Bonnallie, an American of ficer attached to the 208th Bombing Squadron, Royal Air Force, and his job was the bombing of the German submarine bases at Bruges and Zeebrugge, in conquered Belgium.

Occasionally his squadron would be called on to do reconnaissance, deep over the enemy lines. On such a mission, on August 13, 1918, he was leading two other planes far over the German lines, making photographs of targets destined for future bombing. Suddenly six German Fokkers dived on them. Bonnallie was fighting off one of them when he saw a comrade in a tighter spot. Forgetting his own safety, he dived to the assistance of his buddy, completely disregarding the angry Fokker, which sat on his tail and pumped his ship so full of lead that his horizontal tail surfaces fell off. With no fore and aft control, he used his observer as a balance weight and successfully eluded his attackers and brought his ship down safely behind the British lines. England awarded him the D.S.O.; America, the D.S.C. His exploit, in the mind of his British commander, rated America's No. 1 decoration, the Congressional Medal of Honor.

TO EAT THE BREAD OF IDLENESS

"We are paying now and will continue for a long time to average down for the years during which we ate the bread of idleness."

This is a modern economist explaining in ancient words that living with out labor is day-dreaming in a fool's paradise, the hour of awakening and reckoning being inescapable.

The reference is to Proverbs xxxi, 27, from, strangely enough, the all-embracing description of a "virtuous woman."

Among her twenty-odd virtues:

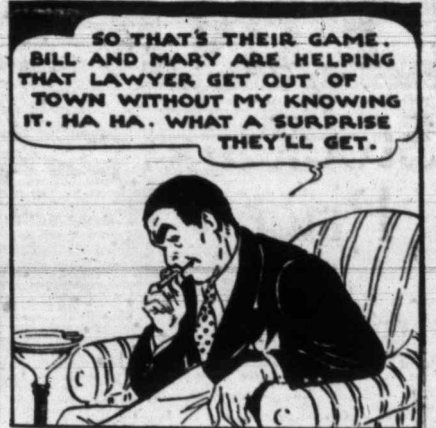

"She looketh well to the waste of her household, and the bread of idleness she doth not eat."

COON PAYS SUNDAY VISIT AT COURTENAY

COURTENAY, Dec. 3.—A fine specimen of raccoon on the top of the gable end of W. J. Carroll's house in the centre of town on Sunday was the cause of a good deal of interest. It patiently and wisely maintained its exalted perch all day. When darkness came it quietly disappeared.

CHEMIST TELLS TALES OF WAR

Dr. Charles C. Hoeftlin
Speaks to Kiwanis Club Members

War-time experiences in Germany in 1918 and 1919 were related to members of the Kiwanis Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon by Dr. Charles Christian Hoeftlin, Swiss chemist and veterinary surgeon. He was introduced by Rev. E. F. Church.

Dr. Hoeftlin told how black, bitter tasting coffee substitute was served on tablecloths made of paper. Milk, butter and cheese were unknown in many of the cities. Practically every commodity had to be purchased with a ticket followed by a long wait in a line-up. Even bandages and shirts were made of paper to preserve precious cotton and linen.

After the German army came home, soldiers everywhere traded their weapons and war trophies for cigars, cigarettes and chocolate, which they had seen little of for years. For two weeks there were no postal, telegraphic or radio services, because army messages occupied all forms of communication. Asylums were filled to overflowing with those who had been driven there by hunger and war experiences. Dr. Hoeftlin stated.

NEW YEAR'S EVE

The speaker told how he watched the first New Year's Eve after the war celebrated by soldiers tossing loaded hand-grenades at each other. There were no casualties because the men were expert at dodging from trench warfare. After the mark fell, he stayed at an hotel for $1 per month in Swiss marks, which were at a premium. A good meal cost 150,000 German marks, so low were their value.

"Although Europe is definitely getting ready for another war, people of the various nations go about their business as if nothing was happening," said Dr. Hoeftlin. "There is an enormous demand for compressed nitrogen, which can easily be converted into deadly poisonous gases. Everywhere one sees fully armed soldiers and guns. Even little Switzerland is fully armed, for the Swiss believe that Hitler might try to overrun them the same way that the Kaiser's forces desecrated Belgium in 1914," he added.

MEDICAL DISCOVERIES

Dealing with medical discoveries made during the war, the speaker told how an extract was developed from maggots found on torn limbs. This resulted today in the saving of many limbs which otherwise would have to be amputated. He said there were no operations for appendicitis in Germany during the war, because the population was forced to exist upon a diet, which prevented appendix trouble.

In France, he said, tuberculosis was being combated with vaccination. Through knowledge accumulated during the past fifty years, North Americans possessed means to prevent the disease, and there was really no reason why it should continue to exist, he maintained. Dr. Hoeftlin concluded by hoping that the present standard of living would be maintained, for there was then little fear of epidemics.

What Today Means

"SAGITTARIUS"

If December 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 11:30

STOP THAT COLD in a hurry!

TAKE Groves' BROMO QUININE

It's not a sign of wisdom or of will-power to suffer from a cold without taking measures to stop it at once. Even a slight cold can take hold quickly and develop seriously. The sensible thing to do when you catch cold is to treat it for what it is—an internal infection requiring internal treatment.

Groves' Bromo Quinine does the four necessary things to attack and break up a cold at the source of the trouble—

1. It opens the bowels gently but effectively.
2. It combats the cold germs and fever in the system.
3. It relieves the headache and "gritty" feeling.
4. It tones up the system and helps fortify against further attacks.

This is the kind of treatment a cold requires. Keep a box handy at all times for the prevention and treatment of colds. At the first sign of a chill or sneeze, take Groves'.

Every druggist has Groves'—but make sure you ask for Groves' Bromo Quinine when you purchase.

Tribute to Administrator

Our photograph shows M. Ponsot, the Resident-General of Rabat, delivering his address bidding farewell to Marshal Lyautey, the greatest of French Colonial administrators, who died recently. These last tributes to Marshal Lyautey took place before the gate of Rabat, overlooking the new part of the town.

a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Suspicion is the most insidious evil that one is liable to encounter this day. In business it will not pay to lack confidence in the persons you contact on this day, unless you have well-founded reasons for being skeptical about their honesty, or sincerity. In your social activities let cordially be shown in your greeting of old friends or newly formed acquaintances. Aloofness, or coolness of attitude probably will be a great mistake. It even pays at times to conceal our dislikes. Married and engaged couples, and those who have discovered the real meaning of love, must be careful not to jeopardize it this day, through unreasonable selfishness.

If a woman and December 4 is your birthday, poetry and romance perhaps are responsible for many of your happiest daydreams. Music finds a responsive soul when its sweet strains reach your consciousness. If you study music, it possibly will offer you the best medium for self-expression. It may at the same time offer an opportunity for a lucrative career. Never let your social ambitions cause you to discard or neglect your old friends or vain regrets may follow in later years. As writer or composer, artist, singer, teacher or actress you may win worthwhile recognition. You might make a great mistake if you ever allow ambition to cause you to sacrifice love upon its altar. There is nothing that can take the place of a good husband and devoted children.

The child born on December 4, in its early childhood, prove man.

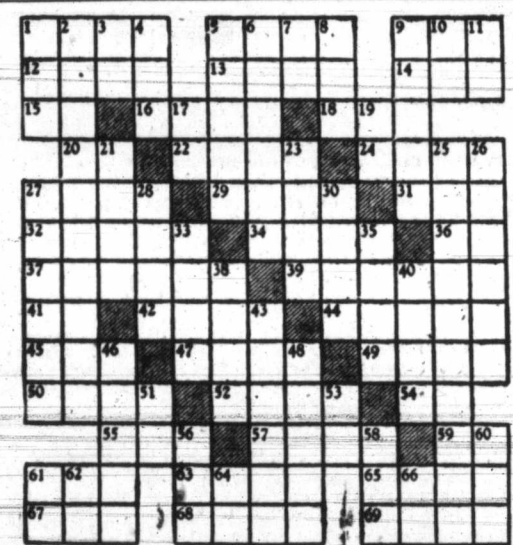

very musical, and give evidence of possessing a decidedly artistic nature. It will require tactful handling, and an abundance of parental affection. If a man and December 4 is your natal day, you have probably an extremely critical ear. Sounds have most likely an unusual effect upon you, creating either a harmonious or discordant mental condition. Try not to be supersensitive to them. As an actor, musician, lecturer, educator, author or preacher you may win renown.

ANNUAL SERVICE HELD BY LODGE

The twenty-second annual memorial service was observed Sunday evening by members of Victoria Lodge No. 3, B.P.O.E. and their families and friends in the Elks' clubrooms, Sprott-Shaw Building.

Alfred Prescott directed the orchestra in a stirring opening selection. The memorial ritual was conducted in impressive fashion by lodge officials, followed by the singing of the opening ode. A. Paton, chaplain of the local lodge, delivered the invocation. Rev. Gerald B. Switzer, D.D., pastor of Oak Bay United Church, delivered the memorial address. Hymns sung during the evening were: "Nearer My God to Thee" and "O God Our Help in Ages Past." Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. T. R. Bowden, Brothers Thomas Kelway and Arthur Jackman.
